TA brief

Prepare the simple word, colour and image cards described here before the lesson; no external image, named resource or screen interaction is needed. Read pupil wording aloud, one short prompt at a time. All response choices apply to EVERY question, demonstration response, shared task, route, review and Exit: pupils may point, speak, sign, use symbols, draw or write. A pupil may direct an adult to make a mark or move a shape. Offer a director role throughout; do not require handling materials or speaking to the group. Never cold call. Any pupil may pass. A pass needs no book entry.

Use one Arrival tier and one Exit tier per pupil. Keep Answer (adult) lines out of pupil view until the response. The three Exit checks are brief choices or short responses, not three extended written answers. Allow private thinking before any shared reveal. An adult may record the pupil's own choice, gesture or exact words. No board copying is needed in the timed stages. Mark-making is the default; prepared paper shapes are an equal alternative without required cutting or gluing.

Festival context: light and colour are used in some celebrations. People within a tradition may celebrate in different ways. These are original, made-up classroom images for an imagined light display, not sacred images or examples of a named tradition's art. Never ask about a pupil's belief, family, worship or loss. Discuss visible features and possible effects, not personal disclosure. No named artists or artworks are needed.

Materials safety and access: use pencils, pastels or chalk, coloured and dark paper, and optional glue and scissors with adult care. No flames or real lights are used. Prepare small dark-paper rectangles and optional pre-cut shapes before the lesson so time is spent choosing and making. The adult checks scissors, supervises their use and offers pre-cut shapes or a director role. Keep materials on the work surface, avoid blowing chalk dust and clean hands after use. Offer a pencil or paper shapes if a texture is uncomfortable. Announce a brief count-in before the first making step; mirror it with a visible gesture, then use the agreed flat-hand STOP cue for a pause. A pupil can choose a quiet place without explaining why. Give large images and read the exact descriptions; label colours as well as showing them. Record access through descriptions or adult-directed marks, and do not treat colour discrimination or fine motor control as the art understanding being assessed.

Kit and stimulus — complete adult image cues: Prepare A and B as two equal plain rectangles with no people, text within the image or named objects. A: a very dark blue ground; one central row of six evenly spaced, equal-size marks in this order: yellow ring / orange dot / yellow ring / orange dot / yellow ring / orange dot. Each ring is a yellow circle outline with the ground visible in its centre; each dot is a solid orange circle. Leave clear dark gaps. B: copy A's marks, colours, sizes, order and spacing exactly, but use a pale yellow ground close in colour and lightness to the yellow rings. Check that A's yellow outlines stand out more clearly before teaching. Prepare one unfilled dark-paper row for the guided example, and a separate test scrap for the adult's small mark change. Supply word cards that give each word and its meaning: WARM (red, orange and yellow) / COOL (blue and green); CONTRAST (a clear difference, such as bright marks on a dark ground) / REPEAT (use a mark or group of marks again); STRENGTH / CHANGE; labelled bright yellow, orange, light blue and light green colour choices; ring and dot shape cues. For a ray cue, if chosen for a pupil's own work, draw four short straight marks spreading from a single centre. Each line is one ray; the group is an abstract light shape, not a flame. Red, orange and yellow are warm colours; blue and green are cool colours for this task. The terms describe colour groups, not temperature. The complete model, terms and materials are introduced here; attendance at P1 is not assumed. Do not ask for a prepared artwork or prior plan. Each pupil makes a fresh small plan within the task.

Adult-only EHCP note: Possible outcome areas are communication and interaction; cognition and learning; sensory and/or physical needs; social, emotional and mental health. Link observations only to an actual individual target; do not infer an outcome from participation alone. Regulation strategy: use the announced count-in and visible STOP cue, with an agreed silent return to the next small task if the pupil needs a pause.

Same-day evidence — ART-GROW-A2-W01-P2: The assigned adult records one chosen book item or a brief observation of the pupil's own response, response mode and actual prompt used, and files it in the evidence app the same day under ART-GROW-A2-W01-P2. A photo is optional and needs the accompanying observation; a photo alone does not show understanding. Do not require a public display. Arts evidence goes in the Explore log.

1. Set out both complete model images and safe materials; introduce the task afresh without relying on P1 attendance.

2. Use the agreed count-in and STOP; pupils can direct marks or shapes, use any response mode or pass. Offer pre-cut shapes instead of required cutting.

3. During We do, check that every pupil makes a private second-mark choice before a shared version is chosen.

4. On the chosen route, record the pupil’s own art decision and reason; making directed marks or reading cards is support to note.

5. Give one specific review prompt, retain the strength and change with a small test or check, and file the evidence in the evidence app the same day under ART-GROW-A2-W01-P2.

Arrival · 5 minutes

Adult note: Show and describe A and B using the shared notes. A, B and the word cards (each with its meaning) are supplied clues, not a test of prior learning. Use one tier.

Starter · 3 minutes

Adult note: Let every pupil choose privately; a pupil can point to A's dark ground and follow its repeated pair to show the reason. Plan B could serve a different art aim; this task asks for contrast and repetition.

I do · 6 minutes

Adult note: Four minutes to model a small artwork and its review, then two for vocabulary and a check. Use the announced count-in and STOP cue to make the start and pause predictable. Make a small row like A with the available materials. Show how a director can choose each colour and shape for the adult to make. On a separate scrap, model one ring with a thin outline and then a thicker outline to test a possible change.

We do · 8 minutes

Adult note: Two minutes for the guided example, four for each pupil/pair to plan and try or direct, and two for a check. A pupil may work alone with an adult making their directed marks; no partner or public display is compulsory. All pupils have the shape and colour choices and decide privately before any shared version is revealed.

Adult note: Model locating the first ring, then let pupils choose the second mark. Their reason may be one selected phrase: all warm colours / warm and cool colours / bright marks. The pupil or adult makes or arranges that chosen pair twice in the unfilled dark row.

Adult note: Every pupil chooses and makes, arranges or directs their own test. The adult may make marks precisely as directed. Record the individual's decision, not just the shared example.

You do · 15 minutes

Adult note: Two minutes to set up the route and response mode; eleven to plan, make/direct and record; final two to review and make one revision. All stimulus images are supplied here; earlier attendance is unnecessary. Give one precise success against the 'Today I can' points and one next step, such as “Your bright marks stand out; now check your ring/dot order.” Directing is available on every route and can show the same artistic choices. Keep the artwork small enough to finish within eleven minutes. In the final two minutes, each pupil identifies one strength and one change, and tests or directs a small part of that change; a larger change can remain a clear next-step plan.

the adult marks I (Independent), S (Supported) or C (Choice) and records actual support. For Aspire, record I or S according to the support used. For Choice, record the choice made and the pupil's one word, phrase or reason.

Exit ticket · 3 minutes

Adult note: Use one tier; keep the model images and the pupil's artwork or directed plan visible. Invite three brief responses.

TA brief · feedback and prompt ladder

Prompt ladder for adults

1. Point to the relevant place / instruction.
2. Ask one short question: "What is it asking you to find?"
3. Rephrase the instruction in simpler language.
4. Provide a scaffold or limited choice.
5. Model the first step only, then return the task to the pupil.

No cold calling; nobody is asked to read difficult text aloud.

Space: allow quiet thinking and a private response.

Feedback [VF] [NS]: model the next art technique.

Voice: keep the pupil's make, Explore-log photo and comment.

Audience: record the comment, listen to any clip in full before tagging, and name one next technique [NS]; mark [R] after receipt.

Influence: use the Explore log to select the next technique or scaffold.

Use [WS] for supported work and [I] for independent work. Use [?] to invite a read-back and [//] for a self-edit.

Evidence [E] · ART-GROW-A2-W01-P2: the assigned adult uploads the selected book item, artwork photo with its observation, or exact response to the evidence app the same day, labelled ART-GROW-A2-W01-P2. Capture is not closure; a photo alone does not establish understanding.

Staff: mark I, S or C beside the You do response for actual independence, support or choice.
