Calm task guides and invented examples, not learner observations.

Exact weekly outcome

Customer service skills.

Service brief and roles

In this invented practice, the service worker can offer two checked paper packs. Each pack has one large card beside one paper strip. A missing strip can be added and checked. A third pack is not available in this practice. Ask the supervisor about any extra request; do not promise an extra pack or a time. No money, real orders or customer details.

Service worker greets, checks need, offers an allowed response and closes. Customer reads/selects the calm line and reply without acted anger. Both keep scripts/brief/aids visible. Reset and swap for a worker and customer opportunity each. Adult can partner. No appearance, eye-contact, smiling or public-speaking test.

Model and keys

C model: “Hello. You would like three packs, is that right? I am sorry, I can offer two in this practice. I can ask the supervisor about more. Would the two available packs help? Thank you.” CfU key: a third pack is not available now; offer two or ask supervisor without promising a result or time. Main B honest limit plus allowed next step, rather than an extra pack or deadline promise. Parallel A clarify the request rather than guess. Re-model/recheck privately; pass unobserved.

Timing and evidence

23–29 round one; reset/swap and 29–35 round two. Choose one scene each round; all three introduced in We Do. Six minutes includes processing, calm exchange and short record. Reduce repeated talk for access. An introduced scene or adult model is not proof a learner performed that skill. Record actual role, scene, prompt and service clue.

Scene answers and service judgements

Scene A A simple request

Possible response only: “Hello. You need two paper packs, is that right? I can offer two checked packs. Is that what you need? Thank you.”

Greet, check the request, offer two checked packs, confirm and thank. No refusal is needed.

Scene B A missing strip

Possible response only: “Thank you for telling me. I am sorry a strip is missing. Shall we check that pack? I can add one strip and check it. Is that now right? Thank you.”

Acknowledge the mild complaint, check what is missing, offer one strip and check the pack. Confirm the fix and thank. No refusal is needed.

Scene C One extra pack

Possible response only: “Hello. You would like three packs, is that right? I am sorry, I can offer two in this practice. I can ask the supervisor about more. Would the two available packs help? Thank you.”

Greet and check the request. Explain the two-pack limit politely. Offer the two available packs or ask the supervisor about more without promising a result or time. Confirm and thank.

Five service checks

Greeting, Listening, Simple solution, Polite limit and Closing. Use Seen; With a prompt; Not needed in this scene; Not seen yet. In A/B refusal is not required; for the polite limit use Not needed in this scene. In C look for a calm two-pack limit and allowed next step without guarantee. Accept equivalent useful words, writing or aided selections within the brief. If a step was not observed, do not mark it Seen.

Calm boundaries

No pressure, threats, confrontation or escalation. The missing-strip complaint is mild; a strip can be added and checked. No third-pack/time promise. Do not require personal customer stories or emotional performance.

Reflection expectations and access

Short reflection

One thing I did to help the customer was… Possible only if it happened: “I checked that the customer needed two packs before offering them.” Or use: A phrase or aid that helped was… / I did not try this part yet; the help I need is… Keep an actual clue. Do not treat the model as the learner’s response.

Five Week 1 labels

Respectful communication	I listened or read and used a clear question or reply.
Instructions and quality	I checked a step or finished work against the instruction.
Safety and help	I kept the area clear or asked before doing an unclear task.
Teamwork and responsibility	I agreed a role, shared a useful update or reported a mistake.

Four Week 1 rating statements retained exactly: I did this; I did this with a prompt; I need another try; Not seen today. These are separate from the four service-check states. No total score or personality judgement.
