In your book: record four brief responses in your chosen mode, unless passing.

1. Last lesson — Shared concern

What concern did both worldview applications share?

Clue: Think about the people needing help.

2. Last lesson — Authority

What did authority mean in the comparison?

Clue: Think about a guide for judgement.

3. Last lesson — Diversity

Did one account represent every member of a worldview?

Clue: Think about variation.

4. Link to today — Link to today

What could help a person continue or adapt after a setback?

Clue: Think about a next step and help.

Starter and method strip

Starter

Authored planning statements: “We can try a checked, smaller step” and “Nothing can ever go wrong if we believe.”

Question: Which statement allows hope while recognising uncertainty?

In your book: record one brief choice or reason, unless passing.

Method

Attend to one model. Locate its claim, evidence and explanation.

A separate authored reading-project example has only enough material for one clear sign. A hopeful response is to make one useful sign, ask readers whether it helps and revise. This combines a worthwhile goal, support and evidence. It does not prove that every difficulty will be solved or that the person who pauses has failed.

In your book: keep one useful model link or vocabulary note, marked “model”; no copying is required.

Feedback codes

VF = verbal feedback; WS = worked with support; I = independent; NS = one specific next step; E = evidence on the evidence app; R = responded: the loop is closed; // = self-edit point; ? = read this back to me.

H1 · Christian hope account

This Christian account links hope with belief in the resurrection of the central teacher of Christianity, and with forgiveness, kindness and care. Some believers draw meaning and encouragement from this belief and their community. This is a Christian belief claim, not a classroom proof or a promise that hardship will disappear.

H2 · Christian parable account

In a Christian parable, a person persistently asks an unjust judge for justice. The judge eventually responds because of the persistence. The text connects the story with perseverance in prayer. Some believers interpret it as encouragement to persist in seeking justice. The class studies the story; nobody prays or imitates its roles. Real efforts do not always succeed, and lack of success does not mean weak belief.

H3 · Humanist account

This humanist account locates meaning in this life and values reason, evidence and concern for people and the world. Some humanists may find hope in practical cooperation and achievable change. This is a possible application of the account, not a claim that humanists cannot feel despair or need help.

We Do

1. Use H2 and H4. Identify what the story may encourage and what it cannot guarantee.
2. Record one safe, achievable next step for the garden and one source-based reason.
3. Name the practical support needed and a boundary that respects a person who pauses.

In your book: record one guided example and one pupil-owned explanation or correction.

Recall after first try

Keep covered until after the first try.

Last lesson compared a Christian care account and a humanist ethical account. Both could support help, while their stated authorities differed. Shared actions did not prove identical reasons. We used some believers/this account and did not assume every member agreed.
