Is treating everyone identically always fair?

Today I can… ☐ explain a strength and a limitation of a viewpoint before giving a supported judgement.

Feedback: ☐ VF ☐ WS ☐ I ☐ NS ☐ E ☐ R ☐ [//] ☐ [?] _____

RE learns about ethics and worldviews; this activity is not worship. Reflection is optional and never worship.

STAFF ANSWERS

Arrival · Supported

1. No. It supported a worthwhile possibility; no later outcome was known.
2. A trained adult's safety check and repair using the available materials.
3. No. Outcomes depend on many circumstances; the sources did not establish that blame.
4. Relevant evidence and reasons, including a possible counterargument.

Arrival · Standard

1. Available materials supported one bed and the adult check addressed safety; the goal was possible without a guarantee.
2. It could allow regulation, safety checking and adaptation instead of demanding immediate unsafe action.
3. It was a sacred narrative with an interpreted meaning; it did not supply evidence of the garden's future outcome.
4. State it accurately, recognise a real strength, then test it with relevant evidence and a reasoned challenge.

Arrival · Stretch

1. It needed a feasible action, safety information and practical support. Motivation alone did not establish resources or the outcome.
2. One repaired bed could preserve a worthwhile gardening aim while adapting scale to resources and safety.
3. A source can support meaning or motivation for some people. A guarantee says an outcome must occur; that is not established by the source or case.
4. It states the conditions or limits that affect the conclusion and explains them with evidence, rather than only saying "it depends".

Exit · Supported

1. The participant cannot access the spoken format; the written format provides the same steps and is available.
2. Different formats can provide access to the same task; a consistent rule can be to meet justified access needs.

Exit · Standard

1. Identical spoken delivery excludes this participant; written steps change access format rather than the task information, so difference is not inherently favouritism.

2. Keep consistent criteria and the same relevant information while allowing evidenced access adjustments; the claim that any difference is unfair is too broad.

Exit · Stretch

1. The argument assumes sameness ensures access, contradicted by the stated barrier and available equivalent written steps.

2. A supported judgement allows the written version on consistent access grounds. A genuinely unknown resource or content-equivalence constraint could need checking; do not invent it as a fact here.

Starter

Answer (adult): “This fact challenges the view because…” begins a reasoned counterargument, provided a relevant fact and actual explanation follow.

We Do

Answer (adult): The entrance cannot be used by some visitors, so equal hours alone do not establish access. Shared hours can be predictable and consistent, which is a real strength. A qualified judgement keeps useful common rules while addressing the evidenced entrance barrier. This guided practice does not supply the pupil’s reading-guide judgement.

You do routes

Starter: “This fact challenges the view because…” begins a reasoned counterargument, provided a relevant fact and actual explanation follow.

We Do shared check: The entrance cannot be used by some visitors, so equal hours alone do not establish access. Shared hours can be predictable and consistent, which is a real strength. A qualified judgement keeps useful common rules while addressing the evidenced entrance barrier. This guided practice does not supply the pupil’s reading-guide judgement.

You Do common criteria: relevant source detail; an explained link to the weekly outcome; accurate terminology; a precise qualification or ethical check; pupil-owned response and review. Independent, Supported and Choice test the same core thinking. Choice requires the pupil’s own word, phrase or reason. Record actual support; an adult-selected answer is not pupil evidence.

Starter: TA action — Read the single question once and allow private thinking. Avoid — Do not provide the response or turn this into a second retrieval grid. Feedback script — “Tell or show me the reason for your choice.”

You Do staff guidance: Strong responses fairly state Q1’s predictability/anti-favouritism strength, use Q2 to show an access barrier and equivalent information, explain a counterargument, and qualify the judgement. Attribute Q3 carefully. Credit a reasoned alternative grounded in facts; do not demand the teacher’s opinion or equate identity with a decision.
