Source and exact outcome

Handle and describe festival artefacts respectfully. From BUILD Weekly - Autumn!B55/C55. Taught Thursday 19 November 2026, P3. Week 3 stays in place while C57 moves to Week 2 and C54 moves to Week 5 under the owner’s order. Theme: Identity & Belonging. This lesson is formative.

Picture answers

A is a paper lantern: folds and a loop are visible. B is cloth: stripes are visible. C is a wooden bowl: a round rim is visible. Material labels are supplied context. Accept another accurate feature supported by the picture. A screen or print image cannot establish the actual weight, feel, age or use of an original object.

Care model and observation

Ask first; wait for permission; follow the adult’s object-specific guidance; support the permitted item low over a table; return it to the mat. Do not lift by the paper loop. A physical picture card can be handled respectfully, but record that it was a card. If the pupil only observes or states a rule, record that separately from demonstrated handling.

Possible uses

Display, table covering and holding things are lesson suggestions, not facts about a community. “It might be used to __” makes the inference clear. Do not assess recall of a named festival, belief or place. A replica is a copy and cannot prove how an original is used.

Private checks and corrections

If a pupil reaches first, pause and model ask/wait before handling. If they state “It feels soft” from a picture, invite “It looks soft” or a visible feature; actual touch requires permission and a real item. If they infer a group from appearance, return to the visible feature and say that more information is needed.

Record only what happened

Code	Feature and observed care	Mode and actual help
B01	_____	_____
B02	_____	_____
B03	_____	_____
B04	_____	_____

Use B04 only if a fourth pupil attends. Leave absent pupils blank. Keep each response individual, including when pupils take turns.

Scribing and prompts

Keep word bank, sentence starters and a visible model on every task. Scribe exact words or labels; read back quietly for keep/change. Record adult-supplied ideas. Prompt ladder: point, short private prompt, rephrase, choice, model the first step then return the task.

Access and boundaries

No public questioning, required reading aloud or forced touch. No tasting, smelling, flames, wearing, striking or ritual enactment. Use approved lightweight replicas or the supplied cards only. Offer observation, usual aids and a private supported pause. Do not require a personal belief or family story.

Evidence and feedback

Check one accurate feature and the actual care routine separately. Do not infer handling from copying a sentence. Record material and help. Offer authentic words/choices to the Communication portfolio. R follows actual adult reply, NS and own response; E follows actual banking. [AWARD] / [QUAL] decisions remain separate.
