Staff answers and checks

Arrival

A short piece can be enough. Record any unfinished work honestly.

Starter

Resilience can be shown as getting help, pausing or finding another way. Avoid personal disclosure prompts.

I do

CfU: Does a longer pause always improve the piece? No. It depends on the intended effect. Ask which version fits the maker idea.

We do

B. If A, show the incomplete ending and model an honest record. Parallel check: a witness saw only the first two actions; may the record claim all four? No. Proceed when each pupil can state an actual next action.

Create

Example only: I completed the turn and ending. I tried a longer pause but kept the short pause because the route still feels steady.

Review

The audience can read the piece differently. The maker explanation and actual features are both worth keeping.

Exit

Example only: My silent piece shows another way forward through a pause and turn. It is complete as a short sequence; I would practise the ending next.

Misconceptions and prompts

Following a plan means nothing can change

Use the plan as a guide. Record a justified change in materials, layout, timing or access.

Resilience means carrying on without help

Resilience can include a pause, help or a new approach.

A plan counts as finished artwork

Keep the plan and actual making evidence distinct. State the real stage.

Cold call with choice of response

Foundation: Point to the next step or a feature you chose.

Middle: What did you keep or change, and why?

Higher: How does this choice support your intended effect, and what still needs checking?

Adult evidence rule

Keep actual tests or versions, the pupil choice and reason, dated arts-log entry and actual support. A precise confirmed witness note is valid for performance or directed work. Do not prefill model answers as pupil evidence.
