Talk to a trusted adult

Wednesday 27 January 2027 · P1 · 40 minutes · Year A

BUILD · three to four learners · Spring 1 Week 4 · formative

Theme Resilience & Change. Six-week term; Week 6 assessing.

Thread tags: SMSC S/So (M/C none); British Values IL/MR (D/RL/T none).

Exact outcome

Talk about a worry with a trusted adult (Time to Talk).

Source: BUILD Weekly Spring row 67, as supplied in the owner brief. The workbook was not reopened; no independent cell check is claimed.

What this lesson teaches

Identify a possible trusted adult by role, recognise listening and safe help, choose one of three conversation openers and practise the invented classroom worry with a teaching assistant. The private role-type card stays with the pupil. Classroom evidence uses the story only.

Prepare

Books; Support Cards pages 1–6; vocabulary; three-opener keep card on page 2; private My trusted adults card on page 4; private staff record. Agree the supervised quiet talk space and school help route. Confirm accessible print and usual communication aids. Do not plan personal worry questions.

Where this leads

This helps me ask for support when I learn or do a job.

Forty minute sequence

Chunk	Minutes	Teaching
Chunk 1	0–12	0–3 calm story starter; 3–7 roles and safe help; 7–11 TA model and check; 11–12 reset.
Chunk 2	12–25	12–17 teach and rehearse openers; 17–20 private hinge; 20–24 plan one role play; 24–25 reset.
Chunk 3	25–40	25–33 private TA role-play turns; 33–36 private role-type card; 36–38 next step and response; 38–40 private exit.

Chunks last 12, 13 and 15 minutes. Two one-minute resets are inside the 40 minutes. Reduce repetition for access. Keep observer/pass and supported return available.

Teaching and response routes

Chunk 1

0–3: read the calm invented story and ask which role could help. 3–7: teach that a trusted adult listens, takes a worry seriously and helps safely. A role offers a possible starting point, not proof that every adult is trusted. 7–11: TA models both story roles, then checks an opener privately by selection. 11–12: quiet reset with usual access.

Chunk 2

12–17: teach the three exact openers on the keep card. Rehearse one selected opener in the story. 17–20: main hinge B and parallel A, using pointing, speech or usual aid. 20–24: choose an adult role and plan a story conversation with the visible model. 24–25: quiet reset.

Chunk 3

25–33: offer private TA role-play turns. Peers use the neutral story reference; do not perform personal worries to the class. 33–36: pupil may fill the role-type card privately, with agreed support, and keeps it. 36–38: one next step and response. 38–40: private story exit and keep both cards.

Supported

Model one step, offer two role/opener choices, then hand back the turn. Keep all Level 2 aids and usual communication access. Record actual adult prompts.

Independent

Keep all Level 2 aids. Learner chooses a safe role and opener and starts the fictional talk after the general cue, using their usual mode. Log any next-step content prompts.

Aspire

Keep all Level 2 aids. Try the busy-adult version or explain a next safe option if the worry remains. No extra writing or personal worry is required.

Worked example and fade

Model the full story dialogue first. Next, keep the dialogue and opener card visible while the pupil selects an opener. For a later observed turn, give a general task cue and fade next-step content prompts only. Do not remove normal reading, language, sensory or communication access. Record further teaching and later use separately.

Scribing and communication access

An exact scribe or TA may voice the pupil’s selected words, read them back and permit correction. Record the mode precisely. TA voicing is communication access; it is not independent spoken speech. An adult-chosen or modelled answer is supported learning. A completed card does not prove a conversation happened.

TA focus

I do: model calmly and check an opener. We do: offer choices and wait. Independent: offer private turns and pass; support the private card only with agreement. Do not collect it; route concerns through safeguarding.

Model check

Start: They can start with ... .

Model: They can start with: Can I talk to you?

Guided openers

Words: talk, worry, help, quiet

Start: They could say ... .

Model: They could say: I have a worry. Can you help?

Start: If the adult is busy, they could ... .

Model: They could ask when to talk or try another trusted adult.

Choose and plan

Words: adult, opener, work, help

Start: They will ask ... . They could say ... .

Model: They will ask a teaching assistant. They could say: Can I talk to you?

Role play and private card

Words: talk, work, role, help

Model: In the story, they could say: I am not sure where my work goes.

Feedback and exit

Words: next, busy, help, adult

Start: Their next step could be ... .

Model: Their next step could be to ask another trusted adult.

Prompt ladder

1 Point to the place or instruction. 2 Ask a short question privately. 3 Rephrase. 4 Offer a scaffold or choice. 5 Model the first step only, then return the task. Allow processing time. Log next-step content prompts during observed initiation; keep them separate from normal access.

Checks and planned access

Success criteria

Choose a safe adult role for the story.

Use an opener to start the story talk.

Show a next safe step if the adult is busy.

Check after the model

Ask which line starts the talk. Accept selection of an opener from the card, through usual mode. Re-model if needed. Do not ask what the pupil is worried about. A pass is not a wrong answer.

Main hinge and decision rule

The adult is busy. What could the story pupil do? A: Give up and keep the worry. B: Ask when to talk or try another trusted adult. Correct B. Check privately by pointing, speaking or usual aid. If B and a safe reason/choice, proceed. If A, unclear or no response, re-model the busy-adult reply, offer two choices and use the parallel check; do not treat pass as misunderstanding.

Parallel hinge

The worry is still there after a talk. What could the story pupil do? A: Ask a trusted adult again or try another trusted adult. B: Stop asking for help. Correct A. Recheck privately and record support; a pass remains unobserved.

Cognition and Learning

Three openers, one mild story, one step at a time; read aloud, visible model, two choices and reduced repetitions. Keep explicit instruction, scaffolding and flexible grouping.

Communication and Interaction

Wait time, familiar aid, pointing/selection, role cards and exact TA voicing/readback. Do not require eye contact or speech.

SEMH

Predictable story-only tasks; no public personal questioning. Pass, observer role, quiet pause and supported return. Do not ask pupils to explain a pass.

Sensory/Physical

Usual safe seating, accessible print and communication aid; quiet reset without sudden sound or forced movement.

EAL

Plan in any language. Explain worry, trusted, role and opener with short examples. Accept chosen words through usual language support.

Optional private story checks

Use story-only questions with prior invitation; allow pointing or pass. F: Which role could help the story pupil? M: Which opener could the story pupil choose? H: What could they do if that adult is busy?

Misconceptions

A role alone does not guarantee trust: look for listening and safe help; do not press an endorsement. A quiet talk is not a secrecy promise: staff may share safety concerns. If the worry remains, ask again or try another trusted adult.

Private support and learning evidence

Safeguarding and the private card

If a pupil cannot identify a trusted adult, support them privately and do not press them. Offer a familiar school role and help make contact through the school route; accept a blank card or pass. Any disclosure goes to the safeguarding lead through school procedure. Listen calmly, reassure, do not probe or promise secrecy. Follow urgent school procedures where needed. Do not write disclosure details in this pack, the private card, a book task or shared learning evidence. Do not read private cards aloud, collect or photograph them for assessment. Staff may support completion only with pupil agreement; the pupil keeps the card.

Practice and access

Use the invented story only. Normal aids, card and model stay. Record selected words, usual mode and any exact TA voicing separately from adult next-step content prompts. An observer/pass is valid; record practice not observed. Do not infer a real disclosure or real-life help-seeking.

Evidence to keep

Use Evidence Sheet for anonymous/session learning notes: adult-role choice for the invented scene, selected opener, observed initiation/usual mode, next safe step, access and content prompts, one NS and learner response. No personal adult roles from the private card, names or worries. Observed with prompts, observed without next-step prompts and not observed are distinct. This is formative lesson practice, not proof of real-life disclosure or help-seeking.

Observation states

Observed initiation without adult next-step content prompts; Observed initiation with adult next-step content prompts; Practice not observed this time. Record the actual role choice for the story, opener, mode, visible initiation and next safe step. Do not infer real-life help-seeking or disclosure from the fictional practice.

Feedback and marking

VF verbal feedback; WS worked with support; I independent; NS next step in green; // self-edit; ? read this back to me; E actual evidence banked; R responded. R only when Voice and Audience are present, one NS is set and the pupil responds in the same colour, on the same page or usual mode. Offer to the Communication portfolio; staff confirm mapping.

Book first

Use books or normal response aids for the invented scene. The two keep cards are the intentional fill-in exception. No private-card content, names or real worry goes into books, photographs or shared evidence. Plan in any language.

Continuity and scope

Week 4 is formative within the six-week term. Week 6 is assessing. Only Week 4 is authored here. The exact outcome is retained, with generic teaching content and no separate named campaign material.
