Ask first and respect the reply

The diagrams and stories are not real people.

One young person wants to borrow the pencil. The other person says no in this story.

What could the first person ask? What should happen after no?

A request to choose	Another choice
Could the young person borrow the pencil for the task?	The young person will take the pencil now.

Lesson resource · CC BY-NC-SA 4.0: free for classroom use, share and adapt with credit, no resale

Cards for the fictional case

What should happen in each story? All the people are made up.

Story card	Story card
A. A young person wants to borrow a pen for a task. The owner says no.	B. A young person asks to sit nearby. The other person says they are not sure.
C. A young person agrees to have help with a model. Then they ask for the help to stop.	D. A young person offers help with a bag. There is no clear reply.
E. A young person asks to borrow a pen for one task. The owner freely points to yes on their aid.	F. A young person says no to lending an item. The other person keeps asking for a yes.

A choice can be spoken, pointed to, drawn or written. An adult can read the card.

Lesson resource · CC BY-NC-SA 4.0: free for classroom use, share and adapt with credit, no resale

A response for the fictional person

Request card	Request card
Could the person sit nearby?	Would the person like help with the bag?
Could the person borrow the pen for the task?	The person will take it without asking.
Reply	Respectful next step
No	Leave it or give space
Not sure or no clear reply	Wait and check
Stop or a changed mind	Stop the action

Request for the made-up young person

_____

Two different story choices

Record	First story	Second story
Story card	_____	_____
Action chosen
Reason from the story

Every answer is about the made-up young person.

Lesson resource · CC BY-NC-SA 4.0: free for classroom use, share and adapt with credit, no resale