Staff checks for facts and meaning

Tuesday 2 February 2027 | P2 | 40 minutes | Year A

Humanities | LAUNCH | Spring 1 Week 5 | HUM-LAUNCH-S1-W05

These are new factual teaching summaries based on accepted Weeks 1–4. No historical text, testimony, account or image is copied. F1–F4 and F6 are facts you may use. F5 is a checking tip, not one of your three memorial facts.

Fact bank and selection

F1: Jewish people lived in many parts of Europe before Nazi rule. They had varied lives. They had families, jobs, beliefs and interests. Jewish life is still diverse today. Earlier learning: Week 2 S1 Lives before persecution; Week 4 R1 Remembering the people.

F2: In Germany, a Nazi law of 7 April 1933 began removing Jewish people from state jobs. Some early exceptions existed. People made and enforced these unjust rules. Earlier learning: Week 2 S2 Exclusion from state jobs.

F3: The Nuremberg Laws were passed in Germany on 15 September 1935. These laws and later rules took away German Jews' citizenship rights. The rules were based on false racist ideas. Earlier learning: Week 2 S3 Citizenship rights taken away.

F4: The Holocaust was the Nazi-led persecution and murder of six million European Jews. Nazi allies and people who helped them also took part. Other groups faced Nazi persecution and murder. Their experiences differed. Earlier learning: Week 1 background; Week 2 definition; Week 4 context.

F5: Historians ask who made a source, when it was recorded and why. They compare specific claims with independent evidence. A single source cannot tell everyone's story. Earlier learning: Week 3 G1 checking questions.

F6: The UK marks Holocaust Memorial Day on 27 January each year. The day remembers people murdered in the Holocaust. It also remembers victims of Nazi persecution and later genocides. It gives time to learn and reflect. Earlier learning: Week 4 R5 A shared day of remembrance.

Choose any three distinct factual entries from F1–F4/F6. Keep qualifiers, dates and places. Do not use the Week 3 invented display as Holocaust evidence. Only the general checking method is carried over. No names or material about named individuals are imported.

Factual precision

F2 concerns state employment, with early exceptions, not every job or every Jewish person on one date. F3 concerns laws plus later rules removing citizenship rights. F4 distinguishes the Holocaust from all events of the war and keeps Jewish victims central while recognising other groups' differing experiences. F6 describes a general purpose, not a promise that a day prevents hatred.

Staff checks for design choices

Tuesday 2 February 2027 | P2 | 40 minutes | Year A

All parts and own words

Require title, own-word dedication, three facts with codes, an original symbol plan/meaning and a responsibility line. The dedication honours people’s lives and communities without individual names, invented feelings, survivor voice or claims to speak for a group. A general planning frame is permitted; a copied dedication is not the learner’s own work.

An original symbol plan

Accept a written design description or private original sketch. Ask what it means in this design and why it suits remembrance. Do not supply a finished emblem, claim a community shares the meaning, or assess drawing skill. No real photo, copied image or victim likeness is needed.

Respect checklist

| Check | Reason to revise |
|---|---|
| Tone | Use calm, clear words. Avoid jokes, blame, slogans or demands to feel one way. |
| Accuracy | Check three different facts against F1–F4/F6. Keep dates, places and meaning. Add the codes; use F5 as a check. |
| Dignity | Remember full lives and communities. Use no individual victim names, photos, accounts, invented voices or imagined feelings. |
| Own design | Write your own dedication. Plan your own simple symbol and explain its meaning. No copied image or finished symbol is supplied. |
| Privacy | Keep the plan on paper or in a plain offline document. No publication, sharing, export or upload. |

Partial teaching model

I plan a space for fact F2. I keep Germany and 7 April 1933 so the fact has a place and date. I keep the note about early exceptions, so I do not claim every Jewish worker lost a job on one day. I then use my own short words. This models an accuracy check, not a finished memorial or dedication.

This models an accuracy decision only. It is not a finished memorial, historical voice or dedication. A learner’s revision can add a missing date/place, restore a qualifier, replace an invented voice with own words, clarify their symbol meaning or make the responsibility line safe.

Which plan fits this lesson? A: Copy a real photo and put the design online. B: Use three checked facts, your own dedication and symbol idea, and keep the plan private. C: Invent a survivor’s voice to make the design moving.

B, with a reason from tone, accuracy or dignity. A breaks the photo and privacy rules. C invents an account and takes someone else’s voice. If needed, model a fact plus code and a private planning choice, then use the parallel check before independent work.

A design uses calm words but includes a made-up sentence spoken by a victim. Is it ready? No. Remove the invented voice. Use a checked fact and the learner’s own dedication, without an individual victim name.

Assessment care and offline follow up

What to retain

In your book or a plain offline document, plan your own memorial layout. Include a title, a dedication in your own words, three facts from F1–F4/F6 with codes, your own symbol idea and what it means, and a line on responsibility today. Check tone, accuracy and dignity. Keep one change and the reason. The design stays private; do not publish, share or upload it.

Accept a concise plan using the learner's usual mode. Record reading access and reasoning help separately. Supported keeps the same parts; Aspire adds reasons about order or limits. A partner's work, copied model, visible grief or quiet task cannot establish the outcome.

Offer to the Communication portfolio as paper or offline work only. An adult replies to the learner's own idea with one NS (next step). The learner responds in the same colour, on the same page or usual mode before R. Record the work location and actual help offline. Leave E unmarked in this lesson. Do not use an evidence app, export, share or upload the design. A partner's answer is not both learners' evidence.

Care

Agree a discreet PAUSE signal, supervising adult, quiet place and private return check before teaching. Keep both learners supervised. If a sole adult cannot supervise separate spaces, use a calm place in the room or pause the whole group while seeking usual support. Never send a learner away alone.

For distress, stop the demand, acknowledge it calmly and offer the agreed route without sanction or a public explanation. Do not probe or insist on a history recap while the learner is upset. Follow the school's existing safeguarding arrangements for disclosures and use the appropriate private record.

Interrupt antisemitism calmly and firmly. Name the harm without repeating a slur. Hostility towards Jewish people is unacceptable. Correct a falsehood briefly and follow school procedures. Do not debate Holocaust denial or require learners to defend victims' rights. Victims were not responsible for their persecution.

For flippancy or laughter, stop and reset respectful listening. A nervous response is possible, but harm still needs addressing. Follow up privately, check those affected and use existing procedures for targeted, repeated or serious incidents. Avoid shaming or guessing motives.

Offer the neutral quiet task and a private readiness check. It is not evidence of the memorial-design outcome. Record deferred work honestly and offer a later supported return. A partner's design or a copied adult model does not establish the learner's understanding.

Quiet answer: 08:30 reading, 10:00 break, 12:00 lunch, 14:00 club; pencil/book and cup/plate by use. Keep supervision and private re-entry.

Source and boundary

Facts were checked against accepted Weeks 1–4, whose bytes were verified. All wording here is newly written factual teaching content. No source text, testimony, imagery, individual victim name, resource title, organisation or address is redistributed. No new archive visit or outside content is needed. The owner's care and privacy rules control this lesson.
