Today I can

I can find or make a genuine dated entry.

I can explain what I did and the help I used.

I can choose evidence and a safe audience to share it.

Words for this lesson evidence: Real work or a record of what you actually did.

portfolio: A collection of your arts work and records.

contribution: The part you chose or did.

gap: Something that still needs a real record.

Working safely

Use a made-up story. Keep your own space. Stop on the open hand. You can sit, stay silent or direct. You may share with just the adult.

Choose a route

Supported

Review one real item with an adult.

Point to your part or explain it aloud.

If no item is here, direct a two-pose drama.

Keep a dated note and choose a viewer.

Independent

Audit up to three available items.

Record each date, your part and one choice.

Select an item and one honest gap.

Plan a short share with an agreed audience.

Aspire

Complete the same real-evidence audit.

Compare two items for what they show.

Explain which best shows a choice and why.

Set one precise evidence or skill goal.

Model step 1

Point to the dated adult model drama plan. Name the actual contribution it describes.

Model step 2

Read a reason for the pause. Mark the model clear.

Model step 3

Show a blank sample. Mark missing rather than inventing an entry.

Model step 4

Mime the fresh two-pose fold story and date the new witnessed record today.

Now make your own

Choose your role. Try a short scene. Change one thing.

The adult model is an example. Your arts log must show your real choice.

The lost prop

A helper looks at an empty shelf. The helper pauses with open hands. A friend points to a box. They both look in the box. They smile when the prop is found.

What shows the problem?

How does a still pose help us follow the story?

A new plan

Two makers hold an imaginary large sheet. They stop when it will not fit. One points to a fold. They fold the sheet in mime, then carry it together with space between them.

What changes after the pause?

How does the second action show a new plan?

Make your own choice
