Weekly outcome

Develop drama or music skills for performance.

Today I can

I can try two versions of one skill.

I can explain a choice for a short piece.

I can set a small practice goal.

Words for this lesson

skill: Something you can improve with practice.

pace: How fast words, moves or beats happen.

pause: A short planned silence or still point.

cue: A sign for a performer to start or stop.

Working safely

Use a made-up story. Keep your own space. Stop on the open hand. You can sit, stay silent or direct. You may share with just the adult.

Choose a route

Supported

Choose drama or quiet sound with an adult.

Try a one-count and a two-count gap.

Point to the version you want to keep.

Say or show why and pick one practice goal.

Independent

Choose one skill in drama or original sound.

Keep other features the same and test two versions.

Get one notice from a listener and choose a version.

Record a reason and a small goal for lesson two.

Aspire

Complete the same core task.

Set a goal that can be checked in two runs.

Ask for feedback on that skill and explain your choice.

Optional next level: plan who will hear your short piece and what you want to learn from them.

Model step 1

Read the Keeper line, using a one-count pause before the help line.

Model step 2

Repeat with a two-count pause, keeping words and volume the same.

Model step 3

Show four soft taps, a two-count gap and four soft taps; silent hand pulses can replace taps.

Model step 4

State a small goal: hold the chosen gap in two runs. Ask a pupil to direct the next version.

Now make your own

Choose your role. Try a short scene. Change one thing.

The adult model is an example. Your arts log must show your real choice.

A clear pause

The Keeper plans to work at a table. It has moved. The performer says, "The table has moved," pauses for one count, then says, "I can ask for help." One open hand shows the empty space.

Where does the performer pause?

How could the pause help the audience follow the change?

A changed pattern

A sound maker creates four soft steady finger taps, one silent count, two slower taps, then four steady taps. The maker says the break marks a plan changing. This is a new class pattern with no tune or words from another work.

Which part breaks the first pattern?

How could you change the gap or pace to show your own idea?
