Lesson

Refine the scene for next week

Creative Arts · GROW · Spring 2 Week 4 · Wednesday 17 March 2027 · P5

Year A · Explore · Theme Resilience & Change

Scheme outcome

Rehearse and refine the group performance.

Today I can

I can test one change from real feedback.

I can explain how the change affects the viewer.

I can agree my role, cue and next step for the show.

Prepare

For up to five pupils: available arts logs, books and pencils.

The current four-beat scene outline and actual Monday feedback, if available.

Clear personal spaces or chairs for silent hand performance. All props and scenery are imagined.

Keep the revised running order, accessible role and cue agreements, and each learner's actual rehearsal log for next week.

Cover route

Use the current invented scene and genuine Monday feedback where present. Otherwise run a new four-beat baseline and record today's response. Model a pause before the choice, test one agreed revision and check the viewer's understanding. Agree accessible roles, cues, safe running order and one next check for next week's class-and-invited-staff performance and review. Do not claim it has already happened or close the award. Follow the 40-minute stages.

Drama teaching sequence

Creative Arts · GROW · Spring 2 Week 4 · Wednesday 17 March 2027 · P5

Arrival 3 minutes

Say: Recheck roles and audience. A pupil may change to seated, silent or directing work, or rehearse privately with staff. Our only planned audience is the class and invited staff. If Monday's work is missing, make a fresh short trial before choosing a target.

Look for: Learner confirms an accessible role and genuine evidence source; missing work has an honest fresh route.

Fallback: Use the four-beat smaller-space story and a staff-only seated trial.

Check and response: A role or audience agreement can change. Record today's actual choices and do not invent earlier feedback.

Starter 3 minutes

Say: Use one specific comment from Monday or today's baseline. A viewer may say the choice was hard to see. The makers then decide what to test, such as a pause before What could we try? Ask each learner for a contribution to the decision.

Look for: Target follows actual feedback and relates to a named story beat.

Fallback: Read a single confirmed phrase and offer cue or pause as two possible changes.

Check and response: Feedback gives information. The group retains creative ownership and tests the proposed change rather than assuming it will work.

I do 6 minutes

Say: I show the same invented choice beat twice. In the first adult model, the new move follows at once. Next I pause, ask What could we try? at talking level and give the cue. A still pose lasts at most three comfortable seconds with normal breathing. I ask a real viewer whether the decision is easier to follow.

Look for: Adult models a small feedback-led revision and checks the audience interpretation directly.

Fallback: Use a silent seated version: pause, show two small hand choices, point to one, then repeat it.

Check and response: The pause can separate the change from the choice. It does not prove success on its own. Check the viewer's actual reading; if still unclear, simplify to two gestures.

We do 6 minutes

Say: Run the four beats with the agreed target. Ask the viewer to name the problem and the response. If they can, check how each cue works. If not, return to the unclear beat with a smaller gesture or short line before running again.

Look for: Group uses actual feedback to judge a revision and agrees accessible transitions for each role.

Fallback: Staff cue only the first beat. Pupils choose or direct the following cues and can answer by pointing.

Check and response: If the viewer identifies the smaller space and the new plan, retain useful detail. If not, simplify the choice/result link. This is the hinge decision.

Create 14 minutes

Say: Use the established scene or the fresh four-beat route. Try the revision, ask for one specific response, then make a reasoned decision. Agree a provisional running order: ready check, start cue, scene, end cue and relax. Next week is performance then review, for the class and invited staff only. No public or family audience is planned. Keep an accessible role and staff-only alternative.

Look for: Each learner tests an actual refinement and records a real contribution. The group has a workable next-week plan with clear role and cue agreements.

Fallback: Use a short private staff rehearsal. A learner can direct one transition or choose a silent cue; record that action and agree a suitable future role.

Check and response: Example only: We added a pause before the new plan. The viewer saw the choice. I will give the end cue next week. If that cue is not settled, keep it as a next decision rather than a completed agreement.

Review 5 minutes

Say: Read back each learner's part, real response and next step. Confirm how to pause or stop. The plan is for next week; it is not a record of a performance already given. In the last two minutes, relax and store all notes with the outline.

Look for: Learners confirm accurate rehearsal evidence and an accessible preparation plan.

Fallback: Check role and cue one-to-one by gesture or short spoken choice.

Check and response: A useful readiness check covers roles, order, cues, safe space and how to stop. It does not require a polished or public performance.

Drama evidence and teaching checks

Exit 3 minutes

Say: Date the note today and use your own words. Keep real feedback even when it differs from our aim. Next week we perform, then review what actually happens. We do not close the award in this rehearsal lesson.

Look for: Dated log distinguishes actual refinement from future performance and preserves each learner's voice.

Fallback: Staff scribe one confirmed phrase at a time. Pupil confirms a role and one cue or next decision.

Check: Example only: The viewer missed our choice. I directed a pause and they saw the new plan. Next week I will give the start cue after everyone is ready.

Evidence and review

Keep the available earlier plan with its original date, a new dated rehearsal note, the actual feedback and each learner's confirmed choice and reason. Show the part before and after a change when possible. Record support and any unfinished work honestly. Fresh work is dated today. A photograph or recording is optional under local consent procedures and is not needed.

Misconceptions

A rehearsal plan proves the performance is done - Record the rehearsal today and the performance only after it happens next week.

A refined scene must be longer or louder - A pause, silent cue or smaller clear move may make the same scene easier to follow.

The audience must include families or outside guests - The planned audience is the class and invited staff only. Agree accessible roles and private staff rehearsal options.

Questions

foundation: Which part will we try again?

middle: What one thing did we change?

higher: What did the watcher see that helps us judge the change?

Drama access and safety

Creative Arts · GROW · Spring 2 Week 4 · Wednesday 17 March 2027 · P5

Safety

Keep a clear personal space. Walk only; no running, lifting, falls, climbing, throws or contact. Props and scenery are imagined. Use an agreed open-hand stop cue. A freeze lasts at most three comfortable seconds, with normal breathing, then relax. Seated and hand-only versions are equal options.

Emotional and sensory access

Use invented situations and role labels. Offer actor, seated performer, silent performer or director. No forced speech, public performance, eye contact, personal account or touch. Agree a calm space, stop cue and return cue. A rehearsal may be shared privately with a trusted member of staff.

Planned adaptations

Cognition And Learning: Keep three BUILD parts or four GROW beats visible in a book or cue note. Rehearse once before changing one thing. Read one feedback point, model the first step only, then return the choice to the learner.

Communication And Interaction: Use short cue words or point to a cue word. Reserve the open hand for Stop. Offer pointing, signing, a seated gesture, silent acting, directing or an adult scribe. Give processing time. Use We changed ... because ... .

Semh: Use the familiar invented scene when available and offer an honest fresh route. Agree roles and audience privately. A pause, smaller movement, role change or private staff rehearsal is valid. Do not measure confidence or require disclosure.

Sensory And Physical: Use a chair or hands only. Agree safe space and a quiet cue. Keep voices at talking level. No touch or surprise sounds. A still pose lasts only up to three comfortable seconds while breathing normally.

Eal: Plan in any language. Link each cue word to a gesture. Allow oral rehearsal before a short log. Check meaning, sequence and the learner's intended change rather than accent or spelling.

The award and evidence

Both pathways work at Explore. The optional GROW next level stretch adds evidence for later review. This is rehearsal and refinement; next week is performance and review. These lessons do not complete or certify the award.

Resilience can include pausing, asking for help, changing a plan and trying a manageable next step. It does not mean hiding feelings, tolerating harm or continuing through pain.

Optional next level stretch

Creative Arts · GROW · Spring 2 Week 4 · Wednesday 17 March 2027 · P5

Task

Compare your aim with what the viewer saw. Will you keep or change one part? Say why. Set one skill to check before the show.

Evidence

Keep your real trial note, your own reason and the viewer's words. Add a skill goal and a way to check it.

Optional scope

This adds reflection for possible later level review. It is optional and does not certify the award or replace the coming performance and review.

Support

Learner links a choice to actual trial evidence, makes a reasoned decision and plans a manageable personal skill check.

Staff ask the same short questions and scribe confirmed responses. Use a private seated or directed trial as the real evidence.
