Two people from the past

New drawings. Left: Rosa Parks. Right: Millicent Fawcett.

A Rosa Parks
She kept her bus seat in 1955. She said no to an unfair bus rule. The rule treated Black people unfairly.

B Millicent Fawcett
She led a peaceful group for women’s votes. She gave talks and worked with others. They asked for women to vote.

Many people worked together for change. This month we mark a day for women. It was on 8 March.

Name action and fair aim

Name cards: Rosa Parks / Millicent Fawcett

Action strip	Fair aim strip
Kept her bus seat in 1955.	Black people should be treated fairly.
Led a peaceful group for women’s votes.	Women should have a fair say in who makes the rules.

Match

An adult can cut the names and strips. Use the two labelled drawings on page 1. Put each name with an action and a fair aim. You can point. An adult can read or move a strip for you.
