Enterprise knowledge and examples

Pink supported edition

Enterprise: from garden to table.

A useful offer

Enterprise means organising an idea and work to offer something useful.

Two kinds of offer

A product is an item.
A service is help.
Some offers have both.

A customer

Someone who might choose or pay for the offer.
A useful idea does not guarantee a sale.

Invented examples only

A starter plant offer

A labelled starter-plant pot with a care card.
Mainly a product for a beginner.

Plant care help

Supervised help checking plant labels.
A service for someone caring for seedlings.

A possible produce offer

A produce basket is a possible later product.
Adult readiness and food checks come first.
No food is handled or sold today.
