Our garden to table chain

Enterprise: from garden to table.

Resilience & Change

The stages we need

Use the invented chain cards or words.

Put growing, care and adult checks before later stages.

Stop at any stage that is not ready or approved.

A model chain does not promise a real harvest.

The garden to table chain

Stage	What needs to happen
Grow	Choose a suitable crop and growing space.
Care	Check needs and give suitable care.
Adult check	Confirm readiness and safety.
Harvest	Harvest only when ready and approved.
Prepare	Prepare food only after adult approval.
Offer or use	Offer or use at the table after checks.

The chain stays conditional at every readiness check.

Where our idea fits

A starter-plant pot helps near the growing stage.

A supervised label service helps at the care stage.

Name the customer need the idea could meet.

Invented examples, not completed group choices.

A chain decision

The crop is not ready or has not passed an adult check.

A Move straight to preparing food for the table.

B Return to care or planning and wait for approval.

Which choice keeps the chain realistic and safe?

Our group chain record

Our mapping choice	Actual group decision or check
Order	Stages we agree ____
Useful offer	Product or service ____
Customer need	Who it could help and why ____
Unresolved check	Resource, readiness or adult permission ____

Read back the map. Agree a change if needed.

My first idea and its place

My idea is ____ for ____ because ____.

It fits the ____ stage, and I still need to check ____.

Use the model for guidance, not as your own evidence.

Review and exit

Check the chain order and its adult safety steps.

Keep the group map and each first idea.

Choose one question to carry into product planning.

Next week: one product or service plan.
