Costing and marketing knowledge

White standard edition

Cost, price & marketing (links Maths).

What marketing does

Marketing explains an offer to an intended customer. A useful draft says what the customer gets and why it may help. A poster or label should use readable text and an accurate, approved price. Keep customer needs in mind without claiming everyone will want it.

Truthful information

Use only claims the adult can check. For a real starter plant, its generic crop label and care advice must match the actual approved plant. Do not promise guaranteed growth, harvest, health benefits or profit. Keep invented model prices clearly marked as practice. No business name, brand, location, contact detail or personal name is needed.

Ten words

A short pitch helps us explain the offer clearly. Count ten ordinary words, then read them aloud. The invented model is: A starter plant with clear care advice for new growers. It has ten words. Practise once, ask what was clear, and improve the draft. A private adult rehearsal or reading from the card is allowed.

Invented teaching model only. These figures are not current prices, confirmed stock, actual pupil sales or a promise of profit.

Costing and marketing knowledge continued

White standard edition

Invented draft only

Generic offer: starter-plant pot with a care card.
Intended customer: a beginner grower.
Checkable benefit: includes clear care advice.
Practice price: £1.00, invented and subject to adult approval.

Ten word example

A starter plant with clear care advice for new growers.

1 A 2 starter 3 plant 4 with 5 clear
6 care 7 advice 8 for 9 new 10 growers

This is a model, not completed pupil work or an approved real offer. Rehearse with a partner or adult. Use your own words and one useful improvement.