1. A similarity

What caring idea could the two accounts share?

Clue: Think of how people in need are treated.

2. A difference

Did the two accounts use the same basis for hope and action?

Clue: Recall faith-based and non-religious reasons.

3. A fair comparison

May we infer a person's beliefs from one kind action?

Clue: Recall the limit on our case.

What could a source tell us about a festival?

Starter and method strip

Starter

Question: Must the same colour or image mean the same thing to every group?

In your book: One brief choice or response.

Method

Worked method model

I read Festival B. This community links Holi with welcoming spring and good overcoming evil.

It describes coloured water and powder in some celebrations. I label this as that source's practice.

Our paper colour card is a classroom design, not a sacred object or the festival itself. We do not throw powder or water.

In your book: Keep one useful model note or word meaning. Mark it as model, not your own evidence.

Feedback codes

VF means spoken feedback. WS means worked with support. I means independent.

NS means one next step. E means evidence kept on the evidence app.

R means responded: an adult heard the response and it shaped the next step.

// marks a self-edit point. ? means read this back to me. You may show or sign your meaning.

RE learns about celebrations; this activity is not worship

Make your own choices from the sources.

Use Festival A and Festival B to make two source labels for C. Name each festival, one belief or theme and one practice or response described. Give one similarity and one difference. Explain why a paper symbol needs a source label. Use festival, spring, renewal and symbol. This is study, not worship.

Help: Find the card named in the task. Read one short part. Point to a detail, then make your own choice.

Source and check

Holi is linked with spring in this community account. Easter is linked with renewed hope in this Christian account.

We are studying spring and renewal themes. This does not claim a festival falls on the lesson date or in the same season everywhere.

A classroom paper symbol needs a clear label. It does not stand for every member of a faith.

Use the supplied third-person sources. No personal belief or loss story is needed. You may use the neutral case to explain a source idea, or pass.

Two empty source labels sit beside plain paper-colour cards. Each label has festival, theme and practice or response spaces. No sacred image or real flame is shown.

Cut-out cards and guided record

We Do

Read Festival A. Find the belief linked to renewed hope and one caring idea.

Add a source label for a paper display. Keep this meaning with A, not with B.

In your book: One guided record and your own source detail, choice or starting step.

Festival A — G-P-S5; one Christian account, in new words

This account links Easter to Christian belief that the central teacher rose from death. It connects this belief with renewed hope, kindness and care. Some Christians see a new start in this hope. The account does not mean that all Christians mark the festival in one way.

Festival B — G-P-S6; one Hindu community account, in new words

This Hindu community's account says Holi welcomes spring and marks good overcoming evil. It describes coloured water and powder in some celebrations. We study the description and use paper colours only. Practices vary; this one account does not describe all Hindus.

Recall after first try

Keep covered until after the first try.

R1: Both source accounts can guide care. A links kindness with Christian faith-based hope; B links action with reason, evidence and concern for others.

R2: The similarity in care did not erase the difference in belief or basis for reasons. Humanism is not all non-religion.

R3: We compared the supplied views without ranking groups or guessing the beliefs of people in the case.

60-second recap: We compared a Christian account and a humanist account. Both could value care, while their reasons differed. Similar actions did not prove identical beliefs.
