RE and Worldviews · LAUNCH · Spring 1 · Week 2 · LAUNCH-RE-S1-W02 · Date _____

How can a response to wrongdoing be just?

Today I can… ☐ justify a proportionate response with evidence while distinguishing forgiveness from removing consequences.

Feedback: ☐ VF ☐ WS ☐ I ☐ NS ☐ E ☐ R ☐ [//] ☐ [?] _____

RE learns about ethics and worldviews; this activity is not worship. Reflection is optional and never worship.

STAFF ANSWERS

Arrival · Supported

1. Why an action should be chosen, using a value or likely effect.
2. Its booking and disruption if it moved.
3. How long each task takes, or whether a workable move or timed sharing is agreed.
4. What happened, the harm, safety and people affected.

Arrival · Standard

1. It linked a case fact to a principle or consequence instead of stating preference alone.
2. The organiser needed the group's disruption and the visitor's access need to judge the trade-off rather than assume consent.
3. Its justification depends on the facts; new timing or access information can alter the likely effects.
4. Explain its purpose, likely effect and relation to the evidence; consider repair and a proportionate boundary.

Arrival · Stretch

1. The group had a booking is a fact; keeping commitments matters is a principle-based reason. The visitor's quiet-space need is a fact; reducing an access barrier is an ethical reason.
2. One person might prioritise the visitor's immediate access; another might protect the group's agreed time or seek sharing. Facts about timing and consent affect the judgement.
3. Revision follows a stated reason about new relevant information; random choice supplies no such accountable link.
4. A reasoned consequence or repair grounded in facts, respect for those affected, safety and a reviewable boundary.

Exit · Supported

1. Providing the replacement panel repairs the material damage.
2. No. A meeting must not be compelled; the checked facts, repair and review can be addressed without it.

How can a response to wrongdoing be just?

Today I can… ☐ justify a proportionate response with evidence while distinguishing forgiveness from removing consequences.

Feedback: ☐ VF ☐ WS ☐ I ☐ NS ☐ E ☐ R ☐ [//] ☐ [?] _____

RE learns about ethics and worldviews; this activity is not worship. Reflection is optional and never worship.

STAFF ANSWERS · continued

Exit · Standard

1. Replacement addresses damage; a temporary pause addresses safe use/accountability and is reviewed.

2. Fairness can hear the group's views by another route, respect refusal and still require proportionate repair or safeguards.

Exit · Stretch

1. The response addresses harm and future use with a review, instead of imposing an unexplained permanent exclusion. Credit a justified remaining concern.

2. Respect the no-meeting choice while keeping repair, safe-use review and evidence-based accountability. No compulsory forgiveness or apology.

Starter

Answer (adult): Replacing the damaged label is repair. The one-session pause is the imposed consequence. One action can sometimes have more than one purpose, but these are distinct in this example.

We Do

Answer (adult): B addresses the admission and damage, hears those affected, arranges repair and reviews a temporary boundary. C makes an apology erase consequences without addressing loss or safety. The group's refusal of a meeting is respected. Proportionality means the response relates to the seriousness, evidence and purpose; a permanent ban needs justification beyond the supplied facts.

How can a response to wrongdoing be just?

Today I can… ☐ justify a proportionate response with evidence while distinguishing forgiveness from removing consequences.

Feedback: ☐ VF ☐ WS ☐ I ☐ NS ☐ E ☐ R ☐ [//] ☐ [?] _____

RE learns about ethics and worldviews; this activity is not worship. Reflection is optional and never worship.

STAFF ANSWERS · continued

You do routes

Starter: Replacing the damaged label is repair. The one-session pause is the imposed consequence. One action can sometimes have more than one purpose, but these are distinct in this example.

We Do shared check: B addresses the admission and damage, hears those affected, arranges repair and reviews a temporary boundary. C makes an apology erase consequences without addressing loss or safety. The group's refusal of a meeting is respected. Proportionality means the response relates to the seriousness, evidence and purpose; a permanent ban needs justification beyond the supplied facts.

You Do common criteria: relevant source detail; an explained link to the weekly outcome; accurate terminology; a precise qualification or ethical check; pupil-owned response and review. Independent, Supported and Choice test the same core thinking. Choice requires the pupil's own word, phrase or reason. Record actual support; an adult-selected answer is not pupil evidence.

Starter: TA action — Read the single question once and allow private thinking. Avoid — Do not provide the response or turn this into a second retrieval grid. Feedback script — "Tell or show me the reason for your choice."

You Do staff guidance: B is well supported by the supplied facts, but credit another feasible response with a reasoned limit, proportionate purpose, repair and respect for the group's no-meeting boundary. J1 can support mercy alongside justice; J2 supports evidence and effects. Forgiveness is not compelled, and an apology is not proof that harm or safeguards disappear.