Writing an account of change / GROW_S1_W05

Outcome: Plan and write a structured historical account.

Evidence to retain: F: structured account with evidence and chronology.

Forty minute route

Arrival 4 min; starter 3; model 6; shared task 7; check 2; independent 12; review 3; exit 3.
Pause time is flexible.

Preparation

Choose one independent route. Print the evidence and shared cards, required visual or data sheet, route worksheet and exit. The organiser is one separate A4 page. Keep answers with staff.

No segregation simulation, forced role-play or repetition of racist abuse. Explain the discriminatory system clearly and recognise collective action.

Access and regulation

Chunk sources and tasks; pre-teach vocabulary with images. Offer sentence stems, organisers, oral rehearsal and typing. Start with one modelled example; extend through a second source, comparison or supported judgement. Check the learner can begin within two minutes, then fade prompts.

Offer a predictable start, private response and agreed pause. No cold calling or forced personal disclosure. Rejoin at one clearly named next step. Keep teen-appropriate examples and the same learning goal across response modes.

Use sensitive content warnings where relevant. Do not ask for family details or personal experiences.

Assessment

Use questioning and the exit response to decide the next step. Record the learner's individual contribution and the access support used.

UAS: no approved unit code is supplied. Match the learner's evidence to the centre-selected unit and exact criteria before submission. This pack makes no automatic award claim.

Model and answers

Read these pages before teaching. Hide the model during independent assessment.

Question: Explain a link in a historical account.

Evidence: B 1 December 1955: Parks was arrested after refusing to give up her seat to a white man on a Montgomery bus. Her action helped trigger a sustained community boycott. C 1956 change: The boycott and legal action challenged segregation. A Supreme Court ruling and pressure on bus revenues contributed to the desegregation of Montgomery buses.

Think aloud: The arrest in 1955 helped prompt a sustained boycott. Collective organisation and legal action contributed to the 1956 change.

Check: What should the conclusion do? Answer the enquiry using the evidence already explained.

Arrival answers

1. C, describing desegregation of Montgomery buses.
2. An action expressing opposition
3. No. It should explain the links and changes.
4. Answer the enquiry using the evidence already explained.

Shared activity reasoning

1. The boycott ended all inequality — It challenged bus segregation; inequality continued. This keeps the claim within the evidence.
2. Parks had never campaigned before 1955 — Parks had years of organising experience. A records her earlier work.

Exit responses

Should an account be only a list of dates? No. It should explain the links and changes.

What should the conclusion do? Answer the enquiry using the evidence already explained.

Teaching and evidence record

Supplied scheme of work teaching sequence: Orally rehearse the sequence; organise an evidence bank; write with an optional frame and check three criteria.

Look for

F: structured account with evidence and chronology.

Accept accurate equivalents, including speech or exact scribing. Check the concept and use of evidence rather than length or handwriting. Record access support separately from content prompting.

BUILD: a concrete example with a reason or demonstrated action. GROW: explain or compare with a relevant detail. LAUNCH: connect evidence and reasoning; use a limitation when the outcome requires it. Keep RE responses non-GCSE.

Media

Original captioned teaching model made for this pack. It demonstrates the supplied reasoning; it is not historical footage, survivor testimony or a documentary. The full transcript and factual source credits are included.

Use manual steps for a calm pace. The silent MP4 has visible captions and a matching text transcript. External archive media is optional and should be previewed before class.
