Beliefs in hard times

Explore how beliefs help people cope with change and hardship.

Resilience & Change

Coping with change

Coping means finding ways to manage hard times.

You may discuss an invented example, point, speak or pass.

A quiet pause is available.

Christianity

Many Christians pray to God.

A church community may offer company and practical help.

Jesus' story about a helper on the road can encourage care for others.

Islam

Many Muslims pray to God and make personal prayers.

A mosque community may give company or practical help.

The story of Ayyub can encourage patience in hardship.

Humanism

Many humanists use reason and kindness to decide what may help.

Friends or community groups can work together.

Stories of people solving problems can offer ideas and hope.

Examples vary between people.

Comparing support

Support	Christianity	Islam	Humanism
Practice	Prayer to God	Prayer to God	Reason and kindness
Community	Church community	Mosque community	Friends and groups
Story	A helper on the road	Ayyub	People solve problems

These are examples. People may use different support.

Our talk

One example in ___ is ___.

This may help by ___.

Both ___ and ___ offer ___.

You do not need to state your own beliefs.

Short response

Name two worldviews.

Give one support example for each.

Explain a similarity or difference.

Tell an adult or write in your book.

Exit

Name one way a belief or worldview may help.

Does everyone use the same support? Explain or point.

If someone needs help, they can ask a trusted adult.