Tier pack: Supported route — Three studio goals and baseline audit

Pathway: SUMMIT · Week 1 Part 1 · Big question: How do we audit our current studio skills across four visual disciplines to set three measurable targets?

Supported route studio steps

Step 1: Complete the four baseline boxes using the printed visual prompts (line weight, 5-box tone ladder, ink wash, and 3-shape collage).

Step 2: Rate each box from 1 to 3 for control and contrast.

Step 3: Complete the three target sentence stems on your audit card naming the tool and skill you will build.

Success check

Four audit quadrants completed, self-rated, and three target stems filled.

Key words helper

• baseline audit: An honest practical test of your current studio strengths and gaps at the start of a project.

• tonal value: The exact degree of lightness or darkness on a scale from pure white to deep black.

• contour: A perceptive line that tracks both the outer boundary and internal form of an object.

Review checklist

[ ] Check that all four quadrants have a diagnostic note underneath.

[ ] Verify that each of your three studio targets names a specific medium and measurable outcome.

[ ] Place your baseline audit sheet at the front of your studio portfolio.
