

Knowledge Organiser (GROW W16): Sources, campaigns and hope

Humanities Spr 1 · 2026–27 · Workbook outcome: Use sources to investigate a campaign for rights and change.

Key Word	Definition
Modelled:	Modelled: claim, the council changed what it did. I test the handbill: it tells me a meeting was called. It does not tell me the council did anything. Then the minute: it records a decision, and it is dated after the march. Thick line to the minute.
Read together:	Read together: the first card describes suffering plainly and does not explain it away. The second describes hope as something practised, in company, rather than something felt alone.

Key Facts

- You have judged significance and written an account. Now you weigh sources against a claim.
- The same source can be strong for one claim and useless for another.

Arrival Task

Retrieving how sources work

1) You have judged significance and written an account. Now you weigh sources against a claim.

2) The same source can be strong for one claim and useless for another.

One claim, three sources

The claim: the campaign changed what the council did. Source A: a handbill asking people to come to a meeting. Source B: a council minute recording a decision, dated after the march.

Try it: hold which card you would choose for that claim. Do not say it. Everyone reveals at once in a moment.

We Do 1: Choose your source. Hold it. Reveal together.

Claim 1: the campaign changed what the council did. Which card?

Claim 2: the campaign had support across the town. Which card?

Claim 3: the campaign went on for more than a year. Which card?

We Do 2: Which box does the card belong in?

Everyone writes a box and a quoted phrase on a whiteboard, face down. Then we hold up the boards at the same time. The card for this one describes people gathering every year to remember a hard time. Which box, and which words made you say so?

Your route

One claim with a chosen source and a scribed reason, and one faith card pointed to a box.

The model

Modelled: claim, the council changed what it did. I test the handbill: it tells me a meeting was called. It does not tell me the council did anything. Then the minute: it records a decision, and it is dated after the march. Thick line to the minute.

Read together: the first card describes suffering plainly and does not explain it away. The second describes hope as something practised, in company, rather than something felt alone.

Check yourself

- Check yourself: does your reason say what the source shows about that claim?
- Check yourself: did you quote words from the card rather than describe a feeling?
- Check yourself: have you avoided speaking for anyone who holds the faith on the card?

Sources, campaigns and hope

SoW: 'GROW Weekly - Spring'!C41 · 'GROW Weekly - Spring'!C53 — "Use sources to investigate a campaign for rights and change. · Investigate ideas of suffering and hope in a faith."

Learning objective: I can choose the source that speaks to a claim about a campaign, defend my choice, and say what a source shows about how people hold on to hope.

No learner is asked what they or their family believe. Every task can be completed from the supplied source cards.

Source and claim record

Claim → source → reason. Then: card → box → quoted phrase.

The first row is done for you, from the claim we tested together. It is in italics so you know it is not yours.

Claim or card	What I chose	My reason, in my words
the council changed what it did	the council minute	it records a decision, dated after the march, so it shows the change and not only the campaign

Choose a route

1. I chose my own route.
2. My reasons are in my own words.
3. Any adult help is written on the record.

5 · Learner confirmation

I confirm this is my own work.

Exit Ticket – Supported

1) Read one reason to a partner. They say back which claim they think it was answering.

2) Did they name a different claim? Change one phrase so the reason points where you meant. That change is your influence.

3) Keep the record. The source work here is the same work the summer assessment asks for.
