Staff answers and cover notes

Exact outcome

Know how to report concerns and seek help.

Meaning and concerns

A concern is something that may affect a person's safety or wellbeing. A person can ask for help even if they are not sure. They do not need proof or a severe problem first. A worry that lasts, repeated unkind replies, private details shared without consent, or a request that makes someone feel unsafe can be concerns. No unkind words or private details are shown in this lesson. A person can report a concern for someone else too.

School staff

A teacher, teaching assistant or safeguarding lead can listen and use the school help route.

A trusted adult outside school

A parent or carer, or another safe adult, can listen and help find support.

A family doctor

Can discuss health concerns and suitable care.

A suitable helpline

Can listen and give advice. Ask staff to help find a route suited to the person's age and need.

Safe online reporting

Stop replying or sharing if something online causes concern. Move away from it if needed.

Tell trusted school staff or another trusted adult privately. Use words, a note, HELP or a usual aid.

With adult help, use a report tool on the item or account where suitable. Say which rule or problem fits, using facts. Block or mute may help too.

Do not forward, download or copy harmful or private content to prove it. Let trusted staff guide any safe record through school procedure.

Ask what will happen next and when to check back. If the first adult is unavailable or help is not enough, ask another trusted adult.

Fictional answers and checks

A A repeated unkind reply

Repeated unkind replies may affect wellbeing. School staff can listen, follow the school route and help use report or block tools. The learner can ask what comes next and when to check back. Opener: Can we talk in private? I need help with unkind replies. School staff can help in school; a trusted adult outside school can listen and help find support. Accept other fitting safe roles and reasons.

B A shared routine note

Private routine details shared without consent can be a concern. An adult can help use reporting tools and the school route. The learner should not send copies to other people. They can ask for a next step and check-back time. Opener: Can we talk in private? A routine note was shared and I need help. School staff can help in school; a trusted adult outside school can listen and help find support. Accept other fitting safe roles and reasons.

C A worry about a new routine

A lasting worry that makes daily life hard may need support. A trusted adult can listen and help plan support or find suitable care. They explain the next step. A suitable helpline may also help; ask staff to find an age-appropriate route. Opener: Can we talk in private? I am finding this routine hard and would like help. School staff can help in school; a trusted adult outside school can listen and help find support. Accept other fitting safe roles and reasons.

Equal demand

Map B and note C both show concern, school and outside roles, private opener, safe action, possible next step and fallback. For C, include a general online report step learnt from A, without turning the worry into an online event. A map needs no art skill and a note needs no extra length.

Main and parallel hinge

Main B. A wrongly requires proof. C spreads private content. D accepts secrecy. Re-model then use parallel A: ask another trusted adult through the agreed route. A pass is unobserved. Check privately with the learner usual mode.

Misconceptions and repair

A learner may ask even if unsure. Privacy means a discreet conversation, not a secrecy promise. Reporting may take time or not resolve a concern, so adult support and asking again remain valid. Never blame a person if harm occurs or tools do not work.

Evidence and safe delivery

Judgement

Judge concern knowledge and a safe help route from the fictional response. Retain partial evidence and actual prompts. Usual aids, typing and exact scribing do not supply the learner thinking. Log adult answer choices or models as content help. Do not judge personal wellbeing, conduct or safety.

Review and exit

Improve A report always fixes it at once. A report may take time or fail to solve it, so ask trusted adults again. Exit may give a fallback or correct the proof myth. The self-check is about learning only.

What may happen next

An adult should listen, take the concern seriously and explain the next step in a way the person can understand. They may need to share information with the safeguarding lead or other people who can help keep someone safe. They cannot promise a secret. A report tool may send a reply or check the content; it may take time and may not resolve the concern. The learner can keep asking for adult help. No fixed result or time is promised.

Private three role card

My three people is an optional private card for three support roles, never names. Any or all spaces may stay blank; use an invented learner or pass. Keep it with the pupil. Do not collect, photograph, display, compare or copy it into evidence. Three filled spaces are not a success test. An agreed scribe returns it to the pupil.

Feedback

Retain actual fictional learning evidence, usual access and content prompts. Set one NS and allow a reply in the same colour, on the same page or usual mode. E only for actual saved work. R only after Voice, Audience, one NS and an actual pupil response. Offer to the Communication portfolio; staff confirm any mapping. Personal support cards and real concerns are not learning evidence.

Private help

Use a trusted adult or school staff in private. Point to HELP, write a request or say Can we talk in private. Ask another trusted adult if the first is busy or help is not enough. Outside school, a trusted adult can help contact a family doctor or a suitable helpline. For an immediate safety concern, get adult help at once and follow the urgent help route; do not wait for an online reply.

Discreet step out

Before teaching, agree a discreet HELP or PAUSE signal and the familiar supervised place and route. Staff acknowledge the signal quietly and keep adult support. No public reason is needed. Offer a neutral task, supported return or private catch-up. Do not send a learner away alone.

Safeguarding

Any disclosure goes to the safeguarding lead through school procedure. Listen calmly, reassure, do not probe, investigate or promise secrecy. Follow urgent school procedures for immediate concerns. Keep real concerns and identifying details in the separate safeguarding record, not learning evidence. A pupil unable to identify a trusted adult is supported privately, not pressed.
