Wellbeing and resilience

Wellbeing, resilience & mental health.

Supported · Thursday 7 January 2027 · P4 · Year A

Three ideas

Wellbeing: how a person is doing in everyday life, with support and things that matter. Mental health: part of everyone’s health, linked to thoughts, feelings and coping or getting help. Everyone has it; not everyone has a condition. Resilience: adapting after change or a setback, with rest, support or a different plan. It never means putting up with harm.

Five areas for reflection

Area	What it can include
Sleep	Rest and a routine that supports sleep.
Movement	Safe, accessible ways to move that suit the person.
People	Safe connection and support.
Purpose	Something that feels worthwhile, such as an interest, learning or helping.
Downtime	Time for rest or enjoyment without a performance demand.

The invented learner

A learner starts a new weekly routine. They are unsure what to do first and want some time to unwind. They enjoy making things. A trusted member of school staff can explain the new routine. The learner chooses one short quiet activity during an agreed break and plans to ask the staff member for a check-in.

Use the shared private wheel on Support Cards page 1 once. Add a word, symbol or optional mark if you wish. No total or right shape. Personal reflection stays with you; use the invented learner, leave blank or pass.

Choose one realistic step

For the invented learner, choose ONE: a short quiet making activity at an agreed break; OR ask trusted school staff for a brief check-in. You may suggest another safe step. Point, say, draw or use your usual aid. An adult can read and scribe your exact choice.

Words: one step · break · materials · staff · barrier · review.

Frame: They could ___ at ___. They need ___. If ___ is not available, they could ___.

Model: The learner tries one short making activity at the next agreed break. Staff help check materials. A quiet drawing option is the fallback if materials are missing.

Each learner may privately choose their own ONE change instead, using Support Cards page 2. It can make an existing helpful habit easier to keep. A personal plan never has to be shared; fictional, blank or pass remains valid. No required spending, exercise, sleep target or family contact.

Learning self-check

Choose only what describes your learning today. All boxes start blank. This is not a mood or health score. You can pass or use the invented example.

Learning today	My choice
I can explain wellbeing, mental health and resilience in plain words.	Ready to explain [ ] With a prompt [ ] Need another example [ ]
I can suggest one realistic step and a support or alternative if needed.	Ready to explain [ ] With a prompt [ ] Need another example [ ]
I know how to ask for help privately.	Ready to explain [ ] With a prompt [ ] Need another example [ ]

Use one next step on your fictional work and reply in the same colour, on the same page or usual mode. For private help, use the agreed pause signal or ask trusted school staff. Resilience includes support; nobody has to cope alone.
