Evidence cards

Read, point or listen. Keep the source label with any detail you use.

J John Blanke in 1507

A royal payment record identifies John Blanke as a trumpeter paid at the English court in 1507.

Source: National Archives, E 36/214 f109

Limit: A payment records employment; it does not tell us all his experiences.

R Sarah Parker Remond

An American anti-slavery campaigner, Remond spoke in Britain. The archive presents her citizenship application alongside this context.

Source: National Archives, HO 1/123/4809

Limit: The application and the archive's later explanatory text are different sources.

C Contribution and respect

An evidence-based display can recognise a musician's skilled work and a campaigner's challenge to slavery without assuming people with similar backgrounds lived identical lives.

Source: Authored classroom case

Limit: This example does not describe every person or place.

Shared investigation

1. Rank John Blanke and Remond evidence for impact, change and legacy.

2. Distinguish contribution evidence from a claim about lasting influence.

Work with a partner or adult, or use your own table. One person suggests; the other checks the evidence. Swap after one turn. Passing is allowed.

Use the evidence cards and any visual sheet. Follow the two shared steps above, then record one decision.

Our explanation

Support: Use the glossary and one chunk of evidence. Plan the claim and supporting detail before explaining.

Further challenge: Weigh the different source types and explain which part of the judgement is least secure.

Supported independent task

Complete this route only. Investigate people who shaped diverse British history.

1. Reach a significance judgement about one named person.
2. Use evidence and an explicit criterion.
3. Address an alternative ranking and explain what further evidence would establish legacy.
