Respecting special objects / BUILD_RE_A1_W04

Outcome: Show one respectful way to handle or respond to a special religious object.

Evidence to retain: F: three respectful actions in order and one reason.

Forty minute route

Arrival 4 min; starter 3; model 6; shared task 7; check 2; independent 12; review 3; exit 3.
Pause time is flexible.

Preparation

Choose one independent route. Print the evidence and shared cards, required visual or data sheet, route worksheet and exit. The organiser is one separate A4 page. Keep answers with staff.

State rules clearly before handling; model each step; use replicas/photos where appropriate; praise specific respectful behaviours; low-arousal correction.

Access and regulation

Option to observe rather than handle; visual sequence; symbols; verbal answer; no authentic sacred object required; reduced choices.

Offer a predictable start, private response and agreed pause. No cold calling or forced personal disclosure. Rejoin at one clearly named next step. Keep teen-appropriate examples and the same learning goal across response modes.

This is learning about religion and worldviews, not worship. Nobody is asked to share a personal belief, family detail or loss.

Assessment

Use questioning and the exit response to decide the next step. Record the learner's individual contribution and the access support used.

UAS: no approved unit code is supplied. Match the learner's evidence to the centre-selected unit and exact criteria before submission. This pack makes no automatic award claim.

Model and answers

Read these pages before teaching. Hide the model during independent assessment.

Question: Why do readers often use a pointer with a Torah scroll?

Evidence: C The Torah pointer: A Torah scroll is handwritten. Readers often follow the words with a pointer called a yad so that fingers do not touch the scroll.

Think aloud: So that fingers do not touch the handwritten scroll.

Check: Do you have to touch an object to show respect for it? No. Looking carefully is a respectful choice.

Arrival answers

1. A volunteer greets him and shows him where to sit.
2. Treating people and things with care
3. So that fingers do not touch the handwritten scroll.
4. No. Looking carefully is a respectful choice.

Shared activity reasoning

1. Hold the replica with two hands over the table — Respectful. Two hands and a table keep it safe.
2. Grab the object before the adult is ready — Needs changing. Waiting is part of our handling rules.
3. Choose to look closely and not touch — Respectful. Looking carefully is a respectful choice.

Exit responses

Why do readers often use a pointer with a Torah scroll? So that fingers do not touch the handwritten scroll.

Do you have to touch an object to show respect for it? No. Looking carefully is a respectful choice.

Teaching and evidence record

Supplied scheme of work teaching sequence: Arrival: 4 retrieval questions. Starter: respectful / not respectful image sort. I Do: model how to look at, pass or observe a special object respectfully. We Do: practise with replicas, protected resources or photographs. You Do: choose three respectful actions and put them in order. Exit ticket: one respectful action and why it matters.

Look for

F: three respectful actions in order and one reason.

Accept accurate equivalents, including speech or exact scribing. Check the concept and use of evidence rather than length or handwriting. Record access support separately from content prompting.

BUILD: a concrete example with a reason or demonstrated action. GROW: explain or compare with a relevant detail. LAUNCH: connect evidence and reasoning; use a limitation when the outcome requires it. Keep RE responses non-GCSE.

Media

Original captioned teaching model made for this pack. It demonstrates the supplied reasoning; it is not historical footage, survivor testimony or a documentary. The full transcript and factual source credits are included.

Use manual steps for a calm pace. The silent MP4 has visible captions and a matching text transcript. External archive media is optional and should be previewed before class.
