Evidence cards A and B

A · Red poppy

The red poppy can help people remember those hurt by war. It can show hope for peace and support for people who serve or have served.

This card explains one use of the poppy. People remember in other ways too.

B · A choice

Each person can choose if they wear a poppy. People can show care by listening, learning or making a quiet sign.

A symbol does not tell us what someone thinks or feels.

Evidence card C

C · Quiet caption

We think of people hurt by war. We learn from the past. We hope for peace.

These are class words. They give a broad thought about peace.

Shared investigation

Pick a calm sign or short line. Say how a fact and a card label help us show care. You may point, work alone or pass.

1. Which card backs up a poppy sign?
2. Which card has a quiet line?
3. What can a card label do?

Choice	Think about
Poppy	What can this sign mean?
Quiet words	How do the words show care?
Card label	Which card backs up the fact?

Our explanation

Optional · respond to feedback together

Optional: show an adult one fact or source label. Hear one piece of feedback. Reply with a change, a reason to keep it or a request for help. Keep your own thoughts private.

Worked model

Ask why we remember

People whose lives were touched by war. We can show care and learn from the past.

Find a fact

Card A tells us what a red poppy can mean. A poppy can show hope for peace.

Make a short line

We think of people hurt by war. We hope for peace. Add card A for the link to peace. Card C gives a sample line.

Check the words

Use true words and keep the card label. No. A calm sign or short line can show care.

1. Try this challenge after one sign or line. Give two ways people can show care.
2. Use a card clue to say why people may choose in different ways.
3. Keep your thought private.

I will know I have done this when I use a card to explain two ways to show care.

Word bank: peace · remember · care · hope.
