Starter and method strip

Starter

Question: If two people both help, must they hold the same beliefs?

In your book: One brief choice or response.

Method

Worked method model

I compare A and B. Both accounts value care for others. That is one similarity.

A links hope to a Christian belief in new life. B is a non-religious account using evidence and reason. That is one difference in basis.

I do not say one group cares more or that all members think alike.

In your book: Keep one useful model note or word meaning. Mark it as model, not your own evidence.

Feedback codes

VF means spoken feedback. WS means worked with support. I means independent.

NS means one next step. E means evidence kept on the evidence app.

R means responded: an adult heard the response and it shaped the next step.

// marks a self-edit point. ? means read this back to me. You may show or sign your meaning.

Use these steps. You choose every detail and answer.
Core task: Compare how two worldviews respond to difficulty.
1. Find one care idea that A and B share.
2. Find how each account grounds its view.
3. Complete a two-column comparison with one detail from each.
4. Apply both to C without guessing a person's worldview.
Use the four must-know words in labels, talk or your review: worldview, similarity, difference, reason.

RE learns about beliefs, change and resilience; this activity is not worship

Choose from the options, then add your own word, phrase or reason.

Core task: Compare how two worldviews respond to difficulty.

Choose a similarity supported by A and B: care for others / identical beliefs / a promise that problems end.

Choose a difference to test: religious belief and a non-religious basis / only one view can care / every person makes the same choice.

Give your own source detail for each choice. State a possible shared action and two reasons.

Use the four must-know words in labels, talk or your review: worldview, similarity, difference, reason.

Help: Find the card named in the task. Read one short part. Point to a detail, then make your own choice.

Source and check

Worldview accounts may share care while grounding it in different ways.

A is a Christian account of faith-based hope; B is a humanist account using reason, evidence and care.

Compare the supplied views. Do not infer the beliefs of people in a case or rank whole groups.

Use the supplied third-person sources. No personal belief or loss story is needed. You may use the neutral case to explain a source idea, or pass.

Two empty source columns have spaces for a reason and a possible action. A shared space and a difference space remain blank.

Cut-out cards and guided record

We Do

Use C. Suggest one shared helpful action, then explain a possible source-based reason from each account.

Record two reason lines. Keep A's reason with A and B's reason with B.

In your book: One guided record and your own source detail, choice or starting step.

Card A — G-P-S5; one Christian account, in new words

This Christian account links hope to belief in the central teacher rising from death. It urges care and kindness for people in need. Some Christians draw hope from this belief. It does not mean that pain or hard change must end at once.

Card B — G-P-S3 and G-P-S4; a humanist account, in new words

This humanist account uses reason, evidence and care for others. It asks people to think about the effects of a choice and to listen. A person can change a plan when new facts arrive. Humanism is a non-religious worldview. It is not a label for all non-religious people.

Recall after first try

Keep covered until after the first try.

R1: In the boat story, frightened friends seek the teacher's help. Some Christians read it through trust. The calm is a claim within the text.

R2: In the judge story, a woman keeps seeking justice. The unjust judge acts to end the requests. The text frames persistence in prayer.

R3: We described those ideas without praying. Neither story proves that faith prevents harm or that persistence always secures justice.

60-second recap: We studied a story about trust and one about persistence in prayer. We described their meanings without praying or promising that belief removes danger or injustice.
