Weekly plan notes

Assessment and data status

Formative. The figures are illustrative and generic, by owner instruction. They replace the named-area/live-data activity. Keep the exact outcome, but record this lesson as practice in interpreting evidence and making cautious claims. Current real-world data use is not evidenced by these invented sets. Week 6 retains mixed source assessment; Week 7 is assessing.

Where this leads

This helps me weigh evidence about work and choose what to research next.

Planned support

Pre-teach the vocabulary, model one row, use guided comparison and a structured record. Offer one-row view, extra processing, usual aids and a regulation break. Plan in any language and rehearse privately. No personal income or career disclosure is required.

Evidence and response

Keep source/date, period/unit, accurate number or comparison, cautious claim, relevant limit and next question. Retain first thinking and any change. Offer to the Communication portfolio. Use E only for actual banked evidence. Give one NS and use R only after Voice, Audience and the learner’s response.
