Profile A Technical college course

Practice profiles prepared 30 October 2026. These are invented teaching examples, not real providers, places or entry rules.

Level: Level 2 in this example

Learning and assessment

Practical making and repair. Learn to measure, follow plans and check finished work. No practical task is carried out in this lesson.

The sample week has three workshop days and two classroom days. This is only the example timetable.

Staff check practical tasks and a short work record. Feedback shows what to improve before the next task.

Employer link

A workplace project is part of the example. It does not promise a placement or job.

Recruitment and entry

An application is followed by a course discussion and a short reading and measuring task. A place is not automatic.

The task checks starting skills and support needs. Exact grades, equivalent awards and any age rule are not given. Ask before a real application.

Support

Written steps and a weekly tutor check-in are offered in the example. Other support must be discussed; it is not confirmed by this card.

Next steps and gaps

After the course, a learner could apply for further technical study, an apprenticeship or trainee work. Each next step has its own entry checks.

Start date, application deadline, travel, costs and any place available are not stated.

Choose a question that helps you judge this route. Say what you still need to know.

Lesson resource · CC BY-NC-SA 4.0: free for classroom use, share and adapt with credit, no resale

Profile B Office apprenticeship

Practice profiles prepared 30 October 2026. These are invented teaching examples, not real providers, places or entry rules.

Level: Level 3 in this example

Learning and assessment

Work on clear messages, accurate records and planning office tasks. Learn at work with time for training.

The sample week has four work days and one training day. Real work and training patterns may differ.

A work log and checks of skills show progress. The learner must complete the required final checks.

Employer link

The apprentice works in an office and has a supervisor. This card describes no real vacancy.

Recruitment and entry

Apply for a vacancy. The sample employer uses an interview and a short office task to select a learner.

The office task checks clear messages and accurate records. Exact grades, equivalents, English and maths rules and age rules are not supplied.

Support

A supervisor check-in is offered each week in the example. Training support can be discussed. Specific adjustments must be confirmed.

Next steps and gaps

After training, the learner could seek an admin role or more training. Continued work or promotion is not promised.

Pay, contract length, start date, deadline, travel and any vacancy available are not stated.

Choose a question that helps you judge this route. Say what you still need to know.

Lesson resource · CC BY-NC-SA 4.0: free for classroom use, share and adapt with credit, no resale

Questions with a purpose

Choose one question that helps with your enquiry. You can change the words. Say why the answer would help you.

Topic	Question idea
Content	What will I learn or do each week?
Assessment	How will you check my work and give feedback?
Employer link	How is an employer involved in this route?
Support	What support can I ask for, and how is it agreed?
Entry and recruitment	What do I need to apply, and how do you select people?
Progression	What could I do next, and what would that step need?

Before the session

“I need ... . I want to find out ... . My question is ... .” You may keep your own need private.

During the session

Ask or agree for an adult to relay your own question. Listen to the answer. Write a short fact, then what is still unknown. Ask a follow-up if needed.

After the session

Choose one route. Link a fact to your own need. Give a fit, a concern or an unsure judgement with a reason. Keep one next question.

Mark the source: visitor, recording or practice profile. A question can be prepared, asked or still pending. A reply from a teacher in role-play is a practice reply.

Lesson resource · CC BY-NC-SA 4.0: free for classroom use, share and adapt with credit, no resale

A model and short choices

Practice example

Practice need: I learn best with written steps. Question: “How can I get written steps for a task?” A offers written steps and a weekly tutor check-in. This could fit, but travel and other support are unknown. Next question: “How do we agree the support I need?”

A recruitment note: application, discussion and a short task. Exact entry grades are not stated. This is profile practice, not a real offer.

Floor choices

Use profile A. An adult may read or scribe your own choices.

Check	Choices
Purposeful question	A: What happens in the entry task? B: Is it good?
Recruitment	A: Apply, then discussion and short task. B: A place is automatic.
Missing grades	A: Guess them. B: Write not stated and ask.
Recorded talk only	A: A provider reply is still needed. B: All questions have been answered.
Own need	A: Copy the model as my own view. B: Give my own need privately or label practice.
Evaluation	A: Link a source fact to a need and keep a question. B: Say best with no reason.

“I need ... . The source says ... . This could fit because ... , but ... . I would ask ... .”

The choices alone are not the full task. Ask your question and record a reply or gap. Give a reason about one route. Plan in any language.

Lesson resource · CC BY-NC-SA 4.0: free for classroom use, share and adapt with credit, no resale

Adult response bank for practice

Use only for the profile simulation. Tell learners that the adult is role-playing. Answer from A or B, then ask if the reply helped. Do not invent a missing fact.

Topic	Profile A reply	Profile B reply
Content	Making/repair, measuring, plans and checking work.	Messages, records and planning office tasks.
Assessment	Practical tasks and short work record; feedback before next task.	Work log, skill checks and required final checks.
Employer link	Workplace project, with no promised placement/job.	Office work and supervisor in the example; no real vacancy.
Support	Written steps and weekly tutor check-in. Other support to discuss.	Weekly supervisor check-in. Training support/adjustments to confirm.
Recruitment and entry	Application, discussion and short reading/measuring task. Exact grades not given.	Vacancy application, interview and short office task. Exact grades/rules not given.
Progression	Apply for further study, apprenticeship or trainee work, with new entry checks.	Seek admin work or more training; no job/promotion promise.

For dates, deadlines, travel, costs, pay, contract length, real places or other missing details: “This profile does not tell us. Keep that question for a real provider.”

Let the learner ask a follow-up. Log the adult reply as simulated, never as external provider contact. Do not complete entitlement records from role-play.

Lesson resource · CC BY-NC-SA 4.0: free for classroom use, share and adapt with credit, no resale

Adult key and evidence boundary

Keep this page apart from first choices. Record the learner’s own answers before showing the key.

Check	Answer and reason
Purposeful question	A: The entry task question has a clear information purpose.
Recruitment	A: Profile A lists application, discussion and a short task.
Missing grades	B: Keep an accurate gap and next question.
Recorded talk only	A: Provider interaction has not been shown by playback alone.
Own need	B: Private own need or honestly labelled practice.
Evaluation	A: A fact-to-need link with a reason and a question.

Floor key A, A, B, A, B, A. Also retain the actual question, asking/relay status, recruitment/entry record and reasoned evaluation. Prepared alone is not asked. A guessed fact is not evidence.

A practice need can show how to reason but does not establish the own-needs part. Offer a private response without pressure. Fallback skill evidence does not establish a real provider encounter. Record the next opportunity as not yet, not completed.

Lesson resource · CC BY-NC-SA 4.0: free for classroom use, share and adapt with credit, no resale