Staff answers and assessment guide

Exact outcome

I can explain what the employer looks for, how recruitment works and one way the workplace supports people to succeed.

Source E15–N15. Week 7 assessment marker S. H15 covers roles, skills, recruitment, progression, culture and reflective comparison with the Autumn 1 personal profile. I15 requires preparation, outcomes, two-way interaction and reflection; there are no fixed phase minutes.

Mode decisions

Mode	Learning evidence	Encounter status
Visitor	Actual source clues, questions/replies and three-part explanation.	Log actual employer/source reference, date, purpose, participation and reflection.
Recording	Attributable information and questions; later replies if they happen.	Playback alone does not establish two-way employer contact.
Profile fallback	A/B role-play plus sourced explanation and profile link.	Simulated learning evidence; real encounter not yet.

Before the session

Prepare the learner enquiry, question method and access. Brief a visitor on the five topic areas. Preview local media and transcript. Have earlier portfolio work ready and sort by week before the final eight-minute check. If none of this is available, the full profile fallback needs only this pack and books.

Assessment boundary

Normal aids stay available in the assessing week. Log adult answer help and distinguish it from reading/scribing. Record the first explanation before feedback, then a revision. Apply secure/partial/not yet separately to the three outcome parts. Portfolio presence, attendance and real encounter status are separate judgements.

Profile facts and model explanations

Practice profiles prepared 30 October 2026. These are invented examples. They describe no real employer, vacancy or offer.

Field	A small bakery	B warehouse
Roles	Baker, shop assistant, team leader.	Stock, dispatch, team leader.
Valued skills	Care, clear talk and team work.	Accuracy, safe choices and clear messages.
Source clue	Check an order; ask about unclear detail.	Check an item code; ask about mismatch.
Recruitment	Application, selection, interview and order-check task, offer decision.	Application, selection, interview and paper stock-check task, offer decision.
Support	Written steps and buddy.	Task model, buddy and checklist.
Why it can help	Learn routine and check unknown step.	Learn steps and spot missed check.
Culture	Questions, private check-in, respect.	Raise concerns, repeat a step, private check-in.

Secure examples

A: “They value care because the assistant checks an order. Staff read applications, choose people to meet and use an interview and task before deciding on an offer. Written steps can help new staff learn a routine.” B: “Accuracy matters because the worker checks the code. Staff use an application, interview and stock task to select people. A checklist can help staff spot a missed check.”

These are examples, not scripts learners must copy. Do not award secure merely for repeating the model with no source understanding. Accept an equivalent explanation in the learner’s own words or normal communication mode.

Checks and misconceptions

After the model

“Written steps help staff learn a routine” names both support and likely effect. “They are nice” gives no clear support mechanism. Look for the source clue.

Main hinge

B: application alone does not mean a job offer. Order the selection steps from the card. The short task gives relevant evidence; it does not guarantee selection.

Parallel hinge

B: a checklist can help someone notice a missed check, but does not guarantee success. Use can or may when explaining likely effects.

Floor key

A, A, B, A, B, A. Follow with the skill clue, recruitment explanation and support-effect link. Choices alone are partial. Record answer prompts separately from normal access.

Misconceptions

A skill label needs a clue. Selection happens after an application. Support can improve access without guaranteeing a result. A positive judgement is not required. Profile role-play is not real employer contact. Missing work is not completed work. A current baseline is not proof of a historical view.

Earlier profile link

Accept a match, changed view or uncertainty linked to an actual earlier strength, interest or preference and new evidence. Keep the older work reference. If unavailable, record missing and a dated current baseline; comparison remains due. Do not infer personal needs from diagnosis or task behaviour.

Privacy

No forced public response or disclosure of grades, health, family employment or income. A learner may give their reflection privately. Use controlled source references; the distributed pack contains no named employers or learner records.

Portfolio close and next steps

Seven weeks to gather

Week	Scheme output	Minimum quality check
1	Sector and occupation map	Explain sector and job. Map roles in at least four sectors.
2	Labour market data note	Keep source and date. Use a data clue and give a cautious view. Mark practice data.
3	Two job research profiles	Use more than one card for each job. Keep what is alike, what differs and open questions.
4	Ways of working comparison	Compare at least three ways. Explain what fits your preferences.
5	Two routes to one career	Map two routes. Show what skills, experience or study each needs.
6	Provider question and route log	Keep question status, entry facts and own-needs view. Mark real or practice.
7	Employer reflection and profile link	Explain a valued skill, recruitment and support. Link to your earlier profile.

How to make the judgement

Locate each actual output and record a book/file reference. Mark held, partial or missing. Check content, source labels and support; presence alone does not show a secure outcome. Week 2 uses illustrative data with source/date, Week 3 uses prepared sources, and Week 6 retains real/simulated status and own-needs evidence. Week 7 keeps the three-part explanation and earlier profile link.

Closing with gaps

Agree one manageable next action with support and review date. Keep any other gaps visible. Missing work can be caught up later and dated then; never backdate or fabricate an output. Review and portfolio closure do not mean every outcome or real encounter is complete.

Feedback and retention

M15 requires a recruitment insight and valued skill with evidence; also check support for G15. Keep the first explanation and revision. Offer to the Communication portfolio. E for actual banked evidence; R after Voice, Audience, NS and response in the same colour, on the same page or usual mode. Staff confirm any accredited mapping. This closes Autumn 2; wait for the new Spring 1 brief.
