1. One festival theme

What did the Easter account link to hope?

Clue: Recall its new-life belief.

2. Another festival theme

What season did the Holi account welcome?

Clue: Recall the season in the source.

3. A source limit

Did a shared renewal theme make the two beliefs identical?

Clue: Recall the reason for separate source labels.

4. Link to today

How could you disagree with a view and still show respect?

Clue: Think about reasons and careful listening.

Question: Is “I disagree because…” different from insulting the person?

In your book: One brief choice or response.

Method

Worked method model

Method model for a different question: “Should a group check a room before using it?”

A reasoned response could be: “Yes, because a check may find a risk. If it is safe, they can plan its use.”

I give a reason and a condition. I can listen to another view and check the facts. This models a method, not the answer to our big question.

In your book: Keep one useful model note or word meaning. Mark it as model, not your own evidence.

NS means one next step. E means evidence kept on the evidence app.

R means responded: an adult heard the response and it shaped the next step.

RE learns about beliefs, change and resilience; this activity is not worship

Make your own choices from the sources.

Discuss the big question: “Can hope help people when change is hard?” Use A or B and C. Give a viewpoint, a reason, a source detail and a limit. Read or hear another view, then give a fair reply. Make a short paragraph or equivalent spoken/signed response. Use viewpoint, reason, respect and change. You can discuss a supplied view without stating your own faith.

Help: Find the card named in the task. Read one short part. Point to a detail, then make your own choice.

Source and check

A respectful discussion gives reasons and receives another view fairly.

You may test a supplied viewpoint without stating your faith. “Depends” needs a clear reason or condition.

Hope can be discussed alongside evidence and action. A reasoned claim must not promise an unknown result.

Use the supplied third-person sources. No personal belief or loss story is needed. You may use the neutral case to explain a source idea, or pass.

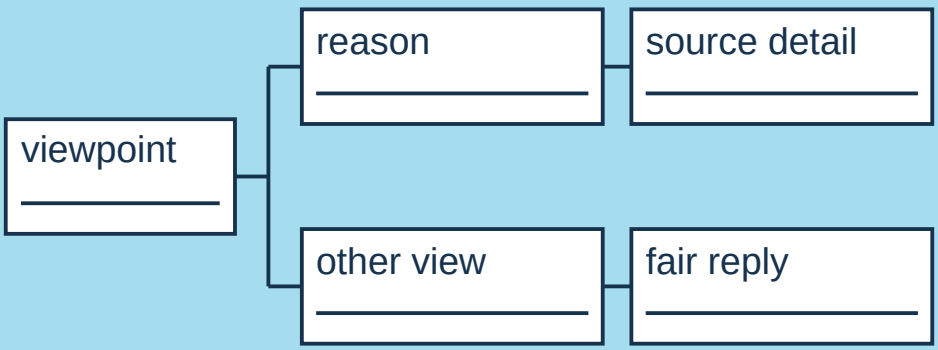

Assessment response: give a viewpoint, source detail, reason and fair reply. Receive one next step, then make your own edit or explain why the response should stay. Reflection is optional and never worship.

A blank viewpoint box links to reason, source detail, other view and fair reply boxes. No answer or belief is pre-filled.

Practice the response method with the room-check question. Give one reason, then listen to or read this other view: “A check takes time.”

Record a fair reply to that view. Do not rehearse the big-question answer yet.

In your book: One guided record and your own source detail, choice or starting step.

Card A — G-P-S5; one Christian account, in new words

This Christian account links hope to belief in the central teacher rising from death. It urges care and kindness for people in need. Some Christians draw hope from this belief. It does not mean that pain or hard change must end at once.

Card B — G-P-S3 and G-P-S4; a humanist account, in new words

This humanist account uses reason, evidence and care for others. It asks people to think about the effects of a choice and to listen. A person can change a plan when new facts arrive. Humanism is a non-religious worldview. It is not a label for all non-religious people.

R1: The Easter account linked Christian belief in new life with hope and kindness. We studied it without worship or personal belief disclosure.

R2: The Holi account linked spring and good overcoming evil. It described colour in some celebrations; we used paper only.

R3: A renewal theme did not make the beliefs identical. A source label kept each meaning with its own account.

60-second recap: Our Easter source linked new life with hope; the Holi source linked spring and good over evil. The themes could be compared without making the beliefs the same.
