Two sources for evaluation

Friday 12 February 2027 | P2 | 40 minutes | Year A

Humanities | GROW | Spring 1 Week 6 | HUM-GROW-S1-W06

This is a new teaching summary of an earlier source. No source text or image is reproduced. Evaluate S1 and S4 using the four questions.

S1 A first call to stay off buses

Early December 1955

Type: Campaign leaflet described in a new teaching summary

Summary maker: The lesson writer made this summary in 2026.

Record/history maker: Members of the Women’s Political Council and local leaders helped make versions of the leaflet.

Purpose: To ask people to join a protest.

Local campaign members prepared and shared a leaflet. It asked Black residents to stay off Montgomery buses on 5 December. The first call was for one day. Later action lasted much longer.

Earlier learning: Week 2 S1.

The leaflet itself is not supplied. Some date and author details are uncertain. Do not give every version one author.

What does it show? Who made it? How far do we trust it for a claim? What question does it leave?

Two sources for evaluation

Friday 12 February 2027 | P2 | 40 minutes | Year A

Humanities | GROW | Spring 1 Week 6 | HUM-GROW-S1-W06

This is a new teaching summary of an earlier source. No source text or image is reproduced. Evaluate S1 and S4 using the four questions.

S4 Court rulings in a later history

5 June and 13 November 1956

Type: A later history of court rulings

Summary maker: The lesson writer made this summary in 2026.

Record/history maker: Courts made the rulings in 1956. Later, historians at a research institute wrote about them.

Purpose: The court ruled on the law. A later history explains those rulings.

Four Black women continued the case Browder v. Gayle. Judges ruled against bus segregation on 5 June. The US Supreme Court upheld that ruling on 13 November. The legal case worked alongside protest. Parks was not a plaintiff.

Earlier learning: Week 2 S4; Week 3 P1; Week 4 D.

The original court text is not supplied. This card describes a later history, checked against another history.

What does it show? Who made it? How far do we trust it for a claim? What question does it leave?