

Career development: where am I now?

Autumn 1 · Lesson 1 · How do evidence, choices and circumstances shape a career journey?

Name (optional): _____ Date: _____

Show your ideas by writing, drawing, pointing or speaking. An adult can record your words.

You may use a fictional character. You can pass on a personal question and still practise the skill.

1. Compare the two journeys

Use the full Jamie and Morgan cards.

- Identify one change in each route.
- Identify one interest or skill that stays relevant.
- Give one similarity, one difference and one fact the cards do not supply.

2. Make a starting-point record

Choose personal reflection or analyse Morgan as a fictional case.

- Three stages: past learning / now / possible next direction.
- Readiness: explain a career / identify an area / identify a skill / name an information source.
- For each readiness item use not yet / developing / more confident, or stated / unknown for Morgan.

My learning record

Lesson 1 · Continue your thinking

3. Set an enquiry question

Record an idea, an uncertainty and a question that could change your thinking.

- I or Morgan might explore...
- I still need to know...
- A useful question is...

Useful words

career development: How learning, work and decisions change through life. / aspiration: Something a person may want to achieve or explore. / uncertainty: Something not yet known or decided. / enquiry: A purposeful investigation that can inform a decision.

Exit check

Explain one reason careers can change and write one investigable question.

My next step

One thing I can practise or improve:

Adult record: response method _____ support _____ evidence _____

Strengths with evidence

Autumn 1 · Lesson 2 · What makes a strength claim credible?

Name (optional): _____ Date: _____

Show your ideas by writing, drawing, pointing or speaking. An adult can record your words.

You may use a fictional character. You can pass on a personal question and still practise the skill.

1. Audit four strengths

Choose yourself or Rowan; identify an evidence context for each.

- Bank: organised, careful, creative, practical, patient, persistent, adaptable, reliable, communicative, helpful.
- Four rows: strength / context or evidence still needed.

2. Write two credible statements

Include strength + context + action; add a known result where helpful.

- Statement 1...
 - Statement 2...
 - Mark personal example or fictional case analysis.

My learning record

Lesson 2 · Continue your thinking

3. Check the limits and next step

Identify a vague or exaggerated claim, then set one development action.

- What does your evidence support?
- What does it not prove?
- What small practice would help strengthen one area?

Useful words

claim: A statement that needs supporting information. / credible: Specific and believable without exaggeration. / context: The situation in which an action happened. / qualification: A formal award or certificate; it is not the same as a strength.

Exit check

Write one evidence statement and explain why it is credible.

My next step

One thing I can practise or improve:

Adult record: response method _____ support _____ evidence _____

Interests, values and working preferences

Autumn 1 · Lesson 3 · How can priorities guide exploration without deciding everything?

Name (optional): _____ Date: _____

Show your ideas by writing, drawing, pointing or speaking. An adult can record your words.

You may use a fictional character. You can pass on a personal question and still practise the skill.

1. Build a priorities profile

Use your own priorities or Maya's card. Rank five and explain the top two.

- Possible values: creativity, purpose, income, learning, stability, independence, teamwork, variety, predictable plans, location.
- Record three working preferences: people/independent; steady/changing tasks; calmer/busier.
- Both or unsure is allowed; identify what experience would help.

2. Compare options A and B

Use two criteria and identify one unknown.

- Which option currently fits the chosen profile better?
 - Which two details support that view?
 - What important information is absent?

My learning record

Lesson 3 · Continue your thinking

3. Test a change of priority

Explain a possible preference trade-off and how new evidence could change the choice.

- A trade-off could be...
- If the priority changed to... then...
- Before choosing, ask...

Useful words

interest: An activity or topic that holds attention or curiosity. / value: Something that matters when considering work. / priority: Something given more weight in a current decision. / trade-off: A compromise between preferences; not surrendering dignity, safety or fair treatment.

Exit check

Explain one priority, one possible trade-off and one fact to check.

My next step

One thing I can practise or improve:

Adult record: response method _____ support _____ evidence _____

Identity, stereotypes and opportunity

Autumn 1 · Lesson 4 · How can we challenge assumptions and investigate real barriers?

Name (optional): _____ Date: _____

Show your ideas by writing, drawing, pointing or speaking. An adult can record your words.

You may use a fictional character. You can pass on a personal question and still practise the skill.

1. Classify and justify

Use stereotype / requirement / barrier; overlap is allowed if explained.

- No suitable transport route reaches the training centre.
- An adult assumes a learner will be unreliable because of their background.
- A fictional course lists a prerequisite not yet achieved.
- A workplace entrance cannot be accessed by a visitor.

2. Rewrite an assumption

Choose one supplied example and replace the assumption with fair evidence-based reasoning.

- Only one gender can do care or technical work.
- A disability automatically rules out every demanding role.
- A quiet person cannot contribute to a team.

My learning record

Lesson 4 · Continue your thinking

3. Make a barrier enquiry plan

Use Kai's full card. State obstacle, possible questions and who could confirm an answer.

- The real obstacle is...
- Two questions to ask are...
- A possible next contact/source is...
- What remains unconfirmed?

Useful words

stereotype: A fixed assumption about a group of people. / barrier: An obstacle that makes access or participation harder. / requirement: Something genuinely needed for a particular role or task. / access: Being able to reach, enter or participate in an opportunity.

Exit check

Give one stereotype, one real barrier and a sensible next question.

My next step

One thing I can practise or improve:

Adult record: response method _____ support _____ evidence _____

Transferable skills and employability evidence

Autumn 1 · Lesson 5 · Which actions show skills that transfer across tasks?

Name (optional): _____ Date: _____

Show your ideas by writing, drawing, pointing or speaking. An adult can record your words.

You may use a fictional character. You can pass on a personal question and still practise the skill.

1. Build a five-skill evidence bank

Use personal safe examples or Sam's full card; mark the choice.

- Communication / context and action.
- Teamwork / context and action.
- Problem-solving / context and action.
- Organisation / context and action.
- Digital / context and action.

2. Write three strong statements

Choose three rows and write context + what the person did + link to skill.

- Statement 1...
 - Statement 2...
 - Statement 3...
 - Add a result only when the evidence supplies it.

My learning record

Lesson 5 · Continue your thinking

3. Plan one development step

Identify a skill with limited evidence or one you want to practise.

- What needs practice or more evidence?
- What small action could help?
- How and when will you check progress?

Useful words

transferable skill: An ability useful across different tasks and settings. / employability evidence: Examples of relevant abilities and actions; not proof of being ready for every job. / specific: Detailed enough to show what actually happened. / development need: An area to practise or gather more evidence about.

Exit check

Give one specific skill statement and one feasible development action.

My next step

One thing I can practise or improve:

Adult record: response method _____ support _____ evidence _____

Exploring career families

Autumn 1 · Lesson 6 · How can we compare career areas without treating a score as a prediction?

Name (optional): _____ Date: _____

Show your ideas by writing, drawing, pointing or speaking. An adult can record your words.

You may use a fictional character. You can pass on a personal question and still practise the skill.

1. Compare three career families

Use Jordan or your own profile and choose three from the six cards.

- For each: interest fit / skill evidence / values fit / working conditions.
- Use supported / possible / mismatch / unknown and give a short reason for every judgement.

2. Shortlist two areas

Explain each choice using at least two criteria.

- Area 1... because criterion... and criterion...
- Area 2... because criterion... and criterion...
- One area not prioritised yet... because...

My learning record

Lesson 6 · Continue your thinking

3. Test the shortlist

Write a question that could confirm or change each shortlisted option.

- Question for area 1...
- Question for area 2...
- Which answer might change your view?

Useful words

career family: A broad group of related roles, with differences within it. / criterion: A feature used to compare options. / shortlist: A small set of options for further investigation. / unknown: Information not yet available; it is not a negative score.

Exit check

Justify two areas with two criteria each, then name one unknown.

My next step

One thing I can practise or improve:

Adult record: response method _____ support _____ evidence _____

My career profile and enquiry plan

Autumn 1 · Lesson 7 · What evidence and questions should guide my next investigation?

Name (optional): _____ Date: _____

Show your ideas by writing, drawing, pointing or speaking. An adult can record your words.

You may use a fictional character. You can pass on a personal question and still practise the skill.

1. Synthesise the profile

Use your portfolio or Sam's complete case. Label the choice.

- Four strengths and two specific evidence examples.
- Transferable skills, interests and values.
- Working conditions or support that help.
- Write a two- or three-sentence profile summary.

2. Justify a shortlist

Select two or three areas with two criteria for each; record a possible mismatch or unknown.

- Area / strength or skill evidence / interest or value / condition or unknown.
 - Which area would you investigate first, and why?

My learning record

Lesson 7 · Continue your thinking

3. Write an enquiry plan

Include three purposeful questions, a source or person and one timed next action.

- Ask about actual role tasks.
- Ask about current routes or training.
- Ask about workplace conditions, progression or possible support.
- For each: how could an answer confirm or change the shortlist?

Useful words

synthesise: Bring evidence together to make a coherent account. / provisional profile: A current summary that can change with new information. / enquiry plan: Questions, sources and actions for investigating an option. / review point: An agreed time to reconsider evidence and next steps.

Exit check

Give one justified area, one question that could change your view and a specific next action.

My next step

One thing I can practise or improve:

Adult record: response method _____ support _____ evidence _____
