Weekly outcome

Use freeze-frame/role-play to tell a story.

Today I can

I can show first, next and last.

I can choose a pose or direct one.

I can keep one real choice in my arts log.

Words for this lesson freeze-frame: A still pose that shows one part of a story.

role: A made-up person in a story.

cue: A sign to start or stop.

story: Things that happen in an order.

Working safely

Use a made-up story. Keep your own space. Stop on the open hand. You can sit, stay silent or direct. You may share with just the adult.

Choose a route

Make a seated pose or direct the adult.

Point to one pose to keep in your log.

Independent

Plan first, next and last in your book.

Rehearse three poses with a partner.

Ask what the viewer can see.

Change one pose and log your reason.

Model step 1

Look at an empty shelf with empty hands. Say: First, the prop is lost.

Model step 2

Point into an imaginary box. Say: Next, I search.

Model step 3

Hold an imaginary prop. Say: Last, I find it.

Model step 4

Turn the last pose towards the viewer. Say: I changed this so you can see the end.

Now make your own

Choose your role. Try a short scene. Change one thing.

The adult model is an example. Your arts log must show your real choice.

The lost prop

A helper looks at an empty shelf. The helper pauses with open hands. A friend points to a box. They both look in the box. They smile when the prop is found.

What shows the problem?

How does a still pose help us follow the story?

A new plan

Two makers hold an imaginary large sheet. They stop when it will not fit. One points to a fold. They fold the sheet in mime, then carry it together with space between them.

What changes after the pause?

How does the second action show a new plan?

Make your own choice

I notice ___.

I could use ___ in my own scene because ___.
