Scheme outcome

Rehearse and refine the group performance.

Today I can

I can play or direct my agreed role.

I can use a real trial to choose one change.

I can log my own choice and the viewer's response.

Words for this lesson

rehearse: Practise a scene before the show.

refine: Make a chosen part clearer.

transition: The move from one story beat to the next.

target: One thing we choose to improve.

Working safely

Use a made-up story. Keep your own space. Stop on the open hand. You can sit, stay silent or direct. You may share with just the adult.

Supported

Use the four-beat story with staff help.

Choose a role and one feature to test.

Try the scene twice in a safe way.

Ask a viewer what they saw.

Confirm your own choice for the log.

Independent

Run the four-beat scene once.

Choose one target from a real response.

Rehearse with one change.

Check the viewer's understanding.

Log your part, choice and next step.

Aspire

Complete the same scene and log.

Compare the first and later trial.

Link one feature to what the viewer saw.

Choose a clear check for the next rehearsal.

Model step 1

Name plan, change, choice and result. Show the transition into the small move.

Model step 2

Give a cue too soon in the adult model. Ask which part was hard to follow.

Model step 3

Repeat the same transition after checking readiness, then give one calm cue.

Model step 4

Ask what the viewer saw. Name cue timing as the only planned change and retain the actual reply.

Your own task

Choose your role. Try a short scene. Change one thing.

The adult model is an example. Your arts log must show your real choice.

The small show with a cue keeper

A group rehearse plan, change, choice and result. The first cue comes before everyone is ready. In the next trial, a cue keeper checks each role, points to the word Start, then starts. The group begin the new small move together.

Which part changes in the second trial?

How can we test whether a cue helps?

A pause that shows a choice

A group show wide moves, a smaller space, a choice and a new small move. A viewer misses the choice. The group add a quiet pause before asking What could we try? The viewer now notices that the group make a new plan.

What did the viewer miss at first?

How might a pause make our choice beat clear?
