Scheme outcome

Rehearse and refine the group performance.

Today I can

I can test one change from real feedback.

I can explain how the change affects the viewer.

I can agree my role, cue and next step for the show.

Words for this lesson

feedback: What a viewer saw and their useful comment.

refine: Make a chosen part clearer.

cue: A sign that tells a role when to act.

audience: The people who watch the performance.

Working safely

Use a made-up story. Keep your own space. Stop on the open hand. You can sit, stay silent or direct. You may share with just the adult.

Supported

Use the four-beat story and one real comment.

Pick one cue or pause to refine.

Try it with staff help.

Agree an accessible role and cue for next week.

Confirm your own choice and next step.

Independent

Use actual feedback to choose a target.

Rehearse and check what the viewer understands.

Keep or change the tested feature for a reason.

Agree roles, cues and the safe running order.

Log your part and one next step.

Complete the same rehearsal and plan.

Compare your aim with the viewer response.

Explain why you will keep or change one feature.

Set a small check before next week's performance.

Model step 1

Show the choice beat without a pause, then ask what the viewer saw.

Model step 2

Repeat with a quiet pause and the original line What could we try?

Model step 3

Give one calm cue for the same small move. Keep personal space and normal breathing.

Model step 4

Ask what is clearer. Keep the actual reply and name one next check for the performance.

Your own task

Choose your role. Try a short scene. Change one thing.

The adult model is an example. Your arts log must show your real choice.

The small show with a cue keeper

A group rehearse plan, change, choice and result. The first cue comes before everyone is ready. In the next trial, a cue keeper checks each role, points to the word Start, then starts. The group begin the new small move together.

Which part changes in the second trial?

How can we test whether a cue helps?

A pause that shows a choice

A group show wide moves, a smaller space, a choice and a new small move. A viewer misses the choice. The group add a quiet pause before asking What could we try? The viewer now notices that the group make a new plan.

What did the viewer miss at first?

How might a pause make our choice beat clear?
