Scheme outcome

Perform our drama (World Book Day link).

Today I can

I can use a start and end cue.

I can share or direct my real part.

I can log what I did and who saw it.

Prepare

For three or four pupils: books or arts logs and pencils.

Real prior story plans if available; fresh three-part den cue if missing.

Clear personal spaces or safe seats; all den props are imagined.

Audience limited to the class and invited staff actually present. No external invitations or guests.

No camera, costume, copied book text or device is needed. Keep actual share notes for Tuesday.

Cover route

Use the original three-part den story and real prior plans. Practise start and end cues, then give the Create stage to the actual performance or private share. Audience is only the class and invited staff. A pupil may direct a seated adult. Record the real role, listener and any actual feedback. Missing work starts fresh today; an uncompleted share stays pending. Retain records for Tuesday's review.

Drama teaching sequence

Arrival 3 minutes

Say: Today is our first lesson of the week and our chance to share a short story. A book can tell a story; we tell ours with moves and short lines. Choose a role or a quiet directing job. Agree the stop signal and who from the class or invited staff is actually here. There are no outside guests.

Look for: Each pupil chooses or confirms a role and audience route. The invented story, space and stop signal are clear.

Fallback: Offer one seated hand move or let the pupil direct the adult. A private share with one class member or invited staff member is available.

Check and response: A short silent part or a directed part is valid. Record what the pupil actually chooses; do not treat a pass as a performance.

Starter 3 minutes

Say: Use the genuine plan and choices made earlier. Our den story can be: first we want a den, next the space is small, last we choose a small den. If work is missing or the pupil was away, make that fresh three-part plan now and date it today. Do not claim a previous rehearsal.

Look for: Pupils recall a real sequence or make a fresh dated one. The start cue is practised calmly.

Fallback: Point wide, bring hands close, then make a small roof shape. The pupil may cue the adult for each part.

Check and response: First is the wish for a den; next is the small space; last is the new small-den plan. A different original three-part story is valid if the order is clear.

I do 6 minutes

Say: Demonstrate the two invented den examples. I use a hand cue, hold each comfortable pose for three counts and relax. I keep my own space and breathe normally. Check after the model: which part shows the space changed? Explain that the teacher model is not the pupil's evidence.

Look for: Adult demonstrates a complete safe tiny story and an explicit check. Pupils identify the middle small-space part.

Fallback: Use seated hand shapes. Ask the pupil to choose wide or close hands for the middle part; adult follows their direction.

Check and response: Close hands show the space is small in this model. The final roof shape shows the response. Meaning should be confirmed by the maker.

We do 6 minutes

Say: Choose roles such as mover, voice or cue keeper. Try one calm rehearsal. Hinge: if a pupil wants a quiet share, should we force a class show or offer one class member or invited staff member? Choose the quiet share. If unclear, model the private route and ask again. Confirm the actual audience before the share.

Look for: Every pupil has an agreed access route and real contribution. Pupils understand that a private share within the allowed audience is valid.

Fallback: Adult performs under pupil direction. Use a small hand cue and let the pupil choose one listener from the class or invited staff.

Check and response: Offer the private share. Never force public acting or add outside guests. If the pupil passes entirely, record the real choice and a next action, not a completed performance.

Create 14 minutes

Say: This is the performance slot. Groups share in turn to the class and any invited staff who are actually present. Each pupil may share a short section privately within that audience or direct an adult. Use the den sequence or a short original story. Before starting, confirm the cue and chosen part. A watcher names one feature they really saw or heard. Record the real date, audience, individual contribution and help; if no share occurs, mark it pending and name the next action.

Look for: A real performance or private directed share occurs with the allowed audience, or an honest pending record is kept. Each pupil's own part is identified separately from the group story.

Fallback: Pupil directs a seated adult to show three hand pictures to one class member or invited staff member. Record direction and the real listener; no device is required.

Check and response: Example only: I gave the start cue. One class member watched our three pictures and noticed the pause. Only record that if it happened. Do not copy this teacher model into a pupil log.

Review 5 minutes

Say: Ask each maker about one real contribution and one actual watcher notice. If no feedback was given, write no feedback yet and choose a later action. Use the final two minutes to clear the space and store the plan and actual note for tomorrow's review.

Look for: The pupil confirms actual audience and contribution; no invented praise, feedback or attendance is added. Records are stored.

Fallback: Use a point or sign to confirm the role and listener. Adult reads a short witnessed note back and lets the pupil correct it.

Check and response: A useful observation is: I noticed the end pose. A pupil who directed the end cue is recorded as director. Missing feedback stays missing until it is received.

Drama evidence and teaching checks

Exit 3 minutes

Say: Keep a dated log of the real share or a pending note. I can write your exact words and read them back. Tomorrow we will review our skills and sort our real arts-log evidence. No checklist will turn a missed share into a completed one.

Look for: A dated entry distinguishes actual work, directed work and pending work. The pupil confirms a choice and reason.

Fallback: Pupil points to the actual role and confirms a short adult note. If the share was not completed, record one practical next action.

Check: Example only: I directed the small-roof pose to show the new plan. My audience was one invited staff member. Record only today's actual work.

Evidence and review

Retain a dated note of each pupil's real role, choices and work or direction, actual audience when sharing occurred, real feedback if given, and support used. Keep an honest gap for anything not done. A photo or recording is optional and follows local consent procedures. A group product never replaces the individual contribution record.

Misconceptions

The book link needs a real story character - Use our own invented story. A book and a scene can both tell a story.

I must act for everyone - You may share privately with one class member or invited staff member, or direct an adult.

Our group share proves what I did - Keep a real note of your own role and choices.

Questions

foundation: What is your real part?

middle: Which cue helps the story end?

higher: How did your choice help a watcher follow the change?

Drama access and safety

Creative Arts · BUILD · Spring 2 Week 5 · Monday 22 March 2027 · P5

Safety

All props and story spaces are imagined. Keep movement within each person's own clear space; no den building, objects to climb on, stage combat, lifting, touching, blindfolds or breath holding. Hold a comfortable pose for about three seconds, breathe normally, then relax. Keep exits clear. Quiet sound stays at talking level or below. Record directed work as direction; do not claim the pupil physically or vocally performed an adult's action.

Emotional and sensory access

Agree the open-hand stop signal, clear personal spaces and quiet return route. Pupils may perform seated, speak, sign, use small silent moves or direct an adult. A private share with one member of the class or invited staff is valid. Offer a pass on the group audience. No personal disclosure, contact, running, sudden sound, darkness, costumes or forced facial expressions.

Planned adaptations

Cognition And Learning: Use one cue at a time. Rehearse the three or four story parts with a short model. Give two concrete choices, then fade the prompt. For reflection, sort one real item at a time under A, B, C or D; leave an honest gap if evidence is missing.

Communication And Interaction: Allow pointing, signing, a sketch, speech or an adult scribe. Give processing time. Read dictated words back and let the pupil correct them. Do not assess eye contact, accent or facial expression. Use I chose ... because ... and Next I will ... .

Semh: Keep all stories invented and low stakes. Let the pupil choose a role and amount of sharing. A pause or request for help can be a planned choice in the story. Agree a calm return cue. Review evidence without ranking pupils or comparing attendance.

Sensory And Physical: Offer seated hand poses and a silent directing role. Keep clear personal spaces. No pupil is moved into a pose. Offer a quiet private audience within the class or invited staff. An observation note can replace a photo or recording.

Eal: Plan in any language. Model first, next, last and change with gestures. Let pupils use their own language to explain a choice before adding a short English label. Check meaning before writing a confirmed arts-log note.

The award and evidence

Both pathways work at Explore. GROW retains an optional Bronze-stretch layer, labelled Optional next level stretch on pupil tasks. Retain only actual evidence. These lessons and a completed checklist do not automatically complete the award. Review the complete real portfolio and record any gaps with a next action.

Resilience can include pausing, asking for help, changing a plan and trying again. Do not ask pupils to recreate personal change, hide feelings or work through pain.
