A quiet moment to think about care reading cards

White standard print

Time to think

To reflect means to take time to think. A short pause may help us notice an idea. It need not be silent. We can keep our eyes open. We can look at a card or draw. We can move to a calm seat. People may find different ways helpful. A choice can change from one day to the next.

Care and new starts

We have heard about hope and new starts. Easter in Christianity links with hope and new life. Rosh Hashanah in Judaism marks the Jewish new year. Both can lead people to think about how they live. People with no religion can reflect too. They may think about care or a new goal. A person does not need to share a belief to think about care.

Our short reflection

Choose a card about a kind action. Think: What could help this pupil? You can look at the card for up to one minute. You may say a thought, point, draw or ask an adult to write. You can pass. You may hold a safe thinking stone if you wish. An adult can add a thought to our reflection wall with your permission. There is no candle or prayer.

Learn about these ideas without sharing your own belief. An adult can reread a short part.
