

Eight food-group cards

Cut along the table lines, or point to a card without cutting.

Use with the five-group reference. This eight-card model does not show every group or any exact portion.

Card	Card
Rice	Bread
Carrot	Apple
Chicken	Beans
Milk	Fortified soya alternative

Print only the sets you need. Adult preparation is an alternative to pupil cutting. These are original teaching labels and simplified models.

Five broad group headings

Cut along the table lines, or point to a card without cutting.

Words identify the group; colour is not required. These are broad Eatwell groups. Balance concerns a day/week and individual needs are outside this model.

Card	Card
FRUIT AND VEGETABLES	STARCHY CARBOHYDRATE FOODS
BEANS, PULSES, FISH, EGGS, MEAT AND OTHER PROTEIN	DAIRY AND ALTERNATIVES
OILS AND SPREADS

Print only the sets you need. Adult preparation is an alternative to pupil cutting. These are original teaching labels and simplified models.

Reference examples beyond the eight cards

Cut along the table lines, or point to a card without cutting.

These optional reference labels explain the group not shown by the source eight-card activity; they do not prescribe amounts.

Card	Card
Olive oil — oils and spreads example	Lentils — another protein-source example

Print only the sets you need. Adult preparation is an alternative to pupil cutting. These are original teaching labels and simplified models.

Two model cases

Cut along the table lines, or point to a card without cutting.

Place the listed cards. Compare group roles; do not infer exact nutrient equivalence.

Card	Card
Case A Rice, chicken, carrot, milk.	Case B Bread, beans, apple, fortified soya alternative.

Print only the sets you need. Adult preparation is an alternative to pupil cutting. These are original teaching labels and simplified models.
