Look at the picture choices

A · Offer water

B · Offer a worksheet

A: Offer water. B: Offer a worksheet.

Look at the picture choices, then use card B to decide which help meets the need.

Evidence cards A and B

A · A story about care

In the Good Samaritan story, a person stops to help someone who is hurt.

This story can help us think about care.

B · A fair turn

Three pupils share a device. One pupil needs the words read aloud. They can take turns and get the help they need.

A fair turn may need a different kind of help.

Evidence cards C and M

C · A caring act

A person can offer help, make room or listen. Ask what would help.

A kind act should fit the person’s need.

M · A voice for learning

A young advocate spoke up for girls to have a chance to go to school and learn.

This example shows one way to stand up for the right to learn.

Shared investigation

Read the tablet-sharing dilemma. Compare identical treatment with support that meets a need. Check a card clue before you decide.

1. How could three pupils share one device?
2. What extra help does one pupil need?
3. Why can that be fair?

We do decision checkpoint

One pupil needs the words read aloud. What gives a fair chance?

1. Give turns and read the words if needed
2. Give one pupil all the turns
3. Give turns but leave out the reading help

Worked model

Ask the question

Yes. It can help each pupil join in. Use card B. In card B, three pupils share a device. One pupil needs the words read aloud.

Find the evidence

In card B, three pupils share a device. One pupil needs the words read aloud. The same turn can still be hard to use if a pupil cannot read the words. Reading help lets the pupil join in.

Explain the link

Agree turns and read the words when a pupil needs that help. My choice is ____. It helps because ____.

Check what we know

Yes. Say what help a person needs to get a fair chance. Ask what help the pupil needs. Different people may need different help.
