Evidence cards D and H

D · Diwali

Many Hindus use lamps, pray and meet for Diwali. Light can stand for good winning over bad or for learning.

People mark Diwali in more than one way.

H · Hanukkah

Hanukkah is a Jewish festival. People light a stand with eight festival lights and a helper light. The lights recall a story about oil and the Temple.

People mark Hanukkah in more than one way.

Evidence cards O and S

O · Lamps

A diya is a small lamp used at Diwali. A hanukkiah is used at Hanukkah. Ask before you touch.

Use a drawing or an unlit copy.

S · One family’s plan

Get the place ready. Set out unlit lamps with an adult. Meet to pray. Share food and greetings.

This is one family’s plan.

Worked model

Ask the question

Both festivals use light. Their stories and meanings can differ. Use card H. Card H links the lights to the Temple and a story about oil. Card D links light to good and learning.

Find the evidence

Card H links the lights to the Temple and a story about oil. Card D links light to good and learning. A label can show a shared use and a difference with a fact from each card.

Explain the link

Pick one item. Add a short label with a fact, a card label and what the item shows. My item shows ____. Card ____ says ____. I checked ____.

Check what we know

No. It gives one account. People mark the festival in more than one way. A source can tell us about a practice. It cannot tell us how all homes celebrate.
