

Knowledge Organiser (GROW W1): Beliefs and world views around us

Humanities Aut 1 · 2026–27 · Workbook outcome: Identify different beliefs and worldviews in our community.

Key Word	Definition
Modelled:	Modelled: the building with the spire. Clue: a tall spire, a cross on top, a board with service times. Label: church, Christian. Note: people gather here to worship, often on a Sunday, and the hall is used for a food bank in the week. Label from the bank, note in my own words.
Said together:	Said together: our community holds many world views. Some are religious and some are not. We can tell which ones are here by the clues in our streets, and we can say what each clue shows without saying anything about any one person.

Key Facts

- A belief is something a person holds to be true. A world view is the whole set of big ideas a person lives by.
- A community is the people who share a place: a street, a town, a school.

Arrival Task

What is a world view?

1) A belief is something a person holds to be true. A world view is the whole set of big ideas a person lives by.

2) A community is the people who share a place: a street, a town, a school.

One street, many world views

Picture one street in a Teesside town. On it: a church, a mosque, and a corner shop that sells food and lamps for a festival. There is also a hall where a walking group meets on a Sunday morning. The question: how many different world views can you spot on that one street?

Try it: cover the word bank. Say one clue from the street and one label for it. Then uncover the bank and check your label is there.

We Do 1: Label the clues on the street scene

Clue 1: a building with a dome and a tall tower, busiest on a Friday afternoon.

Clue 2: a shop with a poster for Diwali and a shelf of sweets and small lamps.

Clue 3: a hall with a notice for a Sunday morning walking group and no religious symbols.

We Do 2: Add the notes together

We annotate one community map as a class. Everyone writes a note on a whiteboard first and we hold up together, so the first note heard does not become the only note. The map has the seven boxes from the diagram. Each note names a clue from the cards and says what it shows. Nobody writes a note about a person.

Check yourself

- Check yourself: does every label come from the word bank?
- Check yourself: does every note point at something you can see on the card?
- Check yourself: have you kept the notes about places and objects, not people?

Beliefs and world views around us

SoW: 'GROW Weekly - Autumn'!C60 — "Identify different beliefs and worldviews in our community."

Learning objective: I can spot clues to different beliefs and world views in our community. I can label each clue with the world view it points to, and say what the clue shows.

Nobody is asked what they believe. Every task can be completed from the supplied clue cards. No card is about anyone in the room.

Clue and label record

Clue → label → note. Labels go on places and objects, never on people.

The first row is done for you, from the card we labelled together. It is in italics so you know it is not yours.

Exit Ticket – Stretch

1) Read one label and its note to a partner. The listener says back which clue on the card told you.

2) Did the listener point at a different clue, or none? Change one word in your note so it points at the clue you meant. That change is your influence.

3) Next week you look at how a belief can shape who a person is. The labels you wrote today are where that starts.
